Two Mental Bills Near Passage In Lansing

MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation designed to make it easier to involuntarily confine mentally ill people is nearing final passage in the Michigan Legislature. The Senate approved, 31-0, and sent to the House for agreement in minor amendments Monday night two bills intended to protect the public from the dangerously ill.

The key bill provides a new verdict of "guilty but mentally ill" which would require imprisonment after psychiatric treatment is completed. The other measure provides a definition of mental illness and expands the circumstances under which mentally ill persons can be committed against their will.

The legislation is a response to recent landmark court rulings that patients cannot be confined against their will unless they are both mentally ill and dangerous to themselves or others. About 150 persons found not guilty by reason of insanity have been released under the new court ruling since September. Several already are back in custody, and police blame them for several murders and rapes.

The bills have been criticized on civil libertarian grounds as an overreaction to an emotion-laden problem. Critics say the measures infringe on the freedom of patients and defendants. The new guilty plea is designed to provide an alternative to the "not guilty by reason of insanity" verdict which led to the mass release. Some prosecutors have aggressively challenged such pleas since the new court ruling because they could no longer be sure the defendant would be confined.

If convicted under the new plea, the defendant would receive psychiatric care but would serve the remainder of the sentence before being released. Before a judge could accept such a plea, he would have to see the results of pre-trial psychiatric examinations and hold a hearing on the defendant's mental illness.

Continuing treatment could be required upon parole or probation, with extensive observation reports required. The definition of insanity, meanwhile, would be more specifically spelled out. An insane person would be described as one who cannot tell if his conduct is wrong or cannot "control" his conduct to the requirements of law.

The bill does not change the handling of persons found "not (See back page, sec. 1, col. 6)

BH Witness Links Suspect And Victim

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The owner of a Benton Harbor tavern yesterday testified she saw the defendant in an alleged insurance scheme murder case leave the tavern with the victim the night the woman was killed.

Another prosecution witness, a Benton Harbor police officer, also testified he saw Lorenzo Cross at Smoke's lounge during the evening of Feb. 18 with a woman whom he could not identify.

And the assistant manager of the insurance office where Cross had been employed said he objected to the man named the beneficiary in an insurance policy Cross had written for Audrey Bridgewater Walker.

The testimony of the three came during the fourth day of trial in Berrien circuit court for Cross, 25, of 1805 Union street, Benton township, who is accused of the murder of Mrs. Walker, 26, of Benton Harbor, and conspiring with Terry Y. Langford, 23, also of Benton Harbor, to murder Mrs. Walker.

The body of Mrs. Walker was found Feb. 19 in a ditch off Yore avenue in Sodus township, riddled with shotgun wounds. Cross, a life insurance agent, sold Mrs. Walker three insurance policies with triple indemnity clauses with Langford as the beneficiary, testimony showed.

Yesterday, during questioning by Berrien Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert U. McDowell, Mrs. Arlene Steen, owner of Smoke's lounge at 200 North Fair avenue, told the jury she saw Cross and Mrs. Walker at a table inside the tavern on Feb. 18, sometime between 8 and 10 p.m. She testified she saw the couple leave together, but could not pin down the time.

Mrs. Sisson also testified that she saw off-duty Benton Harbor Patrolman Phil Harris in the tavern at about the same time. Earlier in the trial, Harris testified that he saw Cross and Mrs. Walker in Smoke's during the evening of Feb. 18.

Another off-duty Benton Harbor police officer called to the witness stand yesterday, Dennis Matthews, said he saw Cross inside Smoke's about 9:30, and said Cross was with a woman at a table, but he did not know who she was.

The other prosecution witness to testify yesterday was Chester Wilburn, assistant manager for the Benton Harbor office of Western and Southern Life Insurance Co., who said he was Cross' supervisor while Cross worked for the firm some 10 months prior to his (Cross') arrest.

Wilburn testified Cross said

Reagan May Be Ready To Announce

MIAMI (AP) — Former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has decided to battle President Ford for the Republican presidential nomination in 1976, The Miami Herald says.

In a story from Washington in Tuesday's editions, the newspaper said Knight Newspapers learned that Reagan made his decision after months of intense wrangling by party conservatives.

The Herald said the decision will be made public later this month with the announcement of a Reagan-for-President committee to organize his campaign and raise funds.

The Herald said the machinery went into motion Monday with the arrival in Washington of Lyn C. Nofziger, who it said is charged with putting the committee together.

Killer Monkey Was Hungry

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A pet monkey that bit a baby to death "was hungry and had not been fed for several days," according to a police spokesman. "The animal was apparently starved and went after the only live thing that could not move to escape," the spokesman explained. He said the monkey was kept as a pet by the dead child's father, George Johnson, who bought it three months ago. He kept it in a burned out second-floor apartment. A decision on whether to destroy the 16-inch-tall squirrel monkey will await the outcome of an autopsy on 4-month-old William Johnson to determine if the monkey is rabid, the spokesman said. The infant was attacked last Saturday afternoon after the monkey got loose from its collar, jumped out a window and entered the Johnsons' first-floor apartment, police said.

The child's mother, Denise Johnson, 22, told police the gray and brown monkey began biting the child. She said she tried to beat the animal away with a broom handle, but the monkey snatched it away from her. The mother told police the boy was on a couch and that when she fled the apartment, the monkey apparently dragged the baby to the floor. Two neighbors ran to the Johnson apartment. One tried to coax the animal out by feeding it cherries, and another reportedly fired three shots from an automatic pistol but missed the animal. The monkey stayed in the apartment with the bleeding baby for almost an hour before the father arrived home and got the child out. The baby was dead on arrival at a hospital. Police said they captured the animal by putting a garbage can over it.

School Trial For BH Due In 2 Weeks

MONTAGUE — U.S. District Court Judge Noel Fox yesterday set Monday, July 21, as a trial date for the Benton Harbor school district desegregation suit involving the former Eaman and three Sodus township school districts.

During a pre-trial conference here, Judge Fox also granted separate motions to allow residents of both the Sodus and Eaman districts to become interveners in the suit.

The time and location of the July 21 trial will be determined later.

Defendants, besides the Benton Harbor school district, are Eau Claire school district, Coloma school district, the concerned parents groups in the Sodus area and Eaman school area, and the state board of education, according to Atty. F.A. (Mike) Jones, who represents the Eau Claire district and attended the pre-hearing conference.

Jones said the trial is expected to resolve before the start of school next fall the question of whether Eaman school will remain in the Coloma district, and whether Sodus area students will go to Eau Claire district schools or remain in Benton Harbor.

The Eaman transfer from Benton Harbor to Coloma was approved by the state board of education in 1971, while approval last year was granted to the transfer of Sodus students from Benton Harbor to Eau Claire. Court action, however, blocked the Sodus move, and Sodus students have remained in Benton Harbor schools.

The original desegregation suit, Berry vs. Benton Harbor is being pressed by the NAACP. The case was tried in 1970 and a U.S. District court judge ruled there was no de jure (illegal) segregation in the Benton Harbor district. The NAACP appealed and the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati last year remanded the case to District court.

Lutheran Scholars Refuse To Close Rebel Seminary

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Representatives of a major Lutheran denomination have told scholars to shut down their rebel seminary, but their leaders said today they won't do so.

At the same time, the governing convention of the strife-torn Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod moved toward a proposed crackdown on district presidents who put graduates of the seminary in local pulpits.

The prospect loomed after the reported failure of closed-door negotiations Monday night trying to get the regional presidents to relent and promise to stop their practice.

Now, they face a potential move to force them to do so or be ousted from office.

The Rev. Dr. August Berntsen of Winter Haven, Fla., the Church's fifth vice president, said the disciplinary measure, if invoked, would erode links to the Church of an estimated one-fourth of its 6,000 congregations.

"It would mean a rebellion against centralization," he told a news conference. "A good many congregations would take an independent stance. They are very loyal to their local presidents."

Meanwhile, the conservative dominated convention took a first decisive step Monday against its moderate wing, asking that its seminary in exile in St. Louis cease operations.

Barring that, the resolution said the seminary is to be considered off-limits, its graduates ineligible for pulpits in the denomination of 2.8 million members.

"It's an attempt to isolate us and make us die a slow hanging," commented the Rev. Dr. John H. Tietjen, the seminary's president. "But we're not going to close."

The seminary was formed in early 1974 by a student-faculty walkout from the Church's main seminary, Concordia in St. Louis, in resistance to hiring of Dr. Tietjen and convention condemnation of seminary teaching.

The Church's conservative administration, led by the Rev.

Dr. J. A. O. Preusand backed by a 6-4 convention majority, has pressed on various fronts to impose a literalistic approach to the Bible.

Adventists Open World Conclave

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Seventh-day Adventists open a nine-day world congress here Thursday, and a spokesman said several hundred believers from Eastern Europe will be among an estimated 20,000 attending.

It will be the first such Adventist conference outside the United States.

The spokesman said delegates from the Soviet Union, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Yugoslavia are expected.

In all, the organizers of the congress expect people representing nearly 200 countries to converge in Vienna. They will meet in a sports stadium.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Not All Business Wants To Be Free

A universal complaint running through the business world over since the New Deal drastically altered America's social and economic patterns 40 years ago is its excessive regulation by the government.

Record keeping and reporting to the government is drowning business in paperwork. The do's and don'ts surrounding the transaction of business are a worse hedgerow than American GIs had to claw through in Normandy during World War II.

Taking this complaint at face value, the Ford Administration has been pushing the idea of deregulating the business community, not entirely but sufficiently so that it may be able to breathe some fresh air for a change.

The action is not completely benevolently minded. The Presidential Council of Economic Advisors estimates some government restrictions pad the price the ultimate consumer pays for goods and services by billions of dollars each year. Retiring Uncle Sam as a ringmaster, in theory at least, should defuel some part of the inflationary fire which still remains Public Enemy No. 1.

Surprisingly, the move is meeting heated opposition from some quarters. Congress agreed with Ford that Fair Trade should be sent to the scrapheap, but not without strong lobbying activity to continue the shaky premise that a guaranteed profit to the manufacturer and retailer of a given article is the warp and woof in the American fabric.

Greater resistance is being voiced from the transportation field.

The Economic Council wants to allow the railroads, buses and trucks, pipelines, barge lines and airlines to institute rates below government established ceilings and to permit them to cross over into one another's staked out domain with greater freedom.

The council's staff has assembled very convincing evidence that regulatory practices by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Board tend to protect established carriers first and to subordinate the interests of shippers, passengers and the man in the street way out at the line's end.

The council is really saying that the original Congressional mandates to the ICC created in 1887 and to CAB established in 1938 to set a reasonable rate of return on a monopoly or semi-monopoly activity has over the years been converted into a stakeout for those participating in it without regard for their efficiency or the ultimate charge to the consumer.

The reaction is the same which the fledglings display toward the mother bird when she determines the time has arrived for her brood to leave the nest and fly on its own.

It is particularly acute in trucking, railroading and the airlines.

Some members in each endeavor make money. But most of them are getting by at best and red ink is prominent in others' financial statements. Troubled would be an apt description for the three groups taken as a whole.

Reduced traffic demand in the current recession and inflated fuel costs are immediate causes for this condition, but the Council believes their long pull recovery and bringing shipping-passenger costs down to a more realistic level depend on cracking the philosophy in the ICC and CAB of everyone being entitled to a piece of the action.

This does not hold for manufacturing and retailing, argues the Council, so why should a different rule apply to transportation?

Those upset by the Administration's proposal answer the Council by saying deregulation would lead to the strong gobbling up the weak, that monopoly would become greater than ever.

Their argument is compelling, but if it is sound, then the Conrail plan to merge six bankrupt northeastern railroads into some kind of a workable system before they collapse fully and in the process drag the nation's highest industrialized section down with them is an experiment in risk and lacking in foresight.

Everyone is familiar with how the government botches the job when it tries to run a business. This nationalization prospect will become a reality unless the guaranteed piece of the action theory is not streamlined.

Officials Who Break Law Getting Off Too Easily

Convictions of public officials on various charges of misconduct in office are an ugly reminder that the human flesh is weak, even among those who aspire to and are entrusted by the citizens with public office. But it is a strength of the political system to note that many of these officials are convicted and pay a penalty for their misdeeds.

Whether the penalties frequently meted out are sufficient is another matter. Two schools of thought generally separate those who believe they are and those who do not. The former holds that mere conviction in itself — meaning, as it almost always does, public disgrace and an end to a political career — is sufficient punishment for all but the most serious crimes.

Critics do not agree. They see in suspended sentences for convicted public officials, or lighter than average sentences for similar crimes, a double standard. A recent case would appear to enforce the critics' position.

A former Internal Revenue Service agent, convicted of failing to file his 1969 personal income tax return and a 1971 return for a business he now owns, was sentenced to two years probation and a $2,500 fine. The ex-agent, who pleaded guilty to both charges, could have been sentenced to a maximum of one year in prison and a $10,000 fine for each of the six counts he was charged with plus costs of prosecution.

The questions remaining from this case are two: Would an ordinary taxpayer charged with similar offenses be treated as lightly, and should not one who has been entrusted with administering the tax laws over other citizens be treated more harshly for violating those same laws than a non-professional in tax matters might be? We think so.

READER OPPOSES SCHOOL STRIKE BILL

Editor: It appears that we the taxpayers are about to be given the proverbial shaft once again by way of the pending state school legislation. I am at a loss to find any logical reason for our legislators passing a bill giving our teachers the right to strike each year and disrupt our school systems.

Our present laws say public employee strikes are illegal and that is as it should be. It looks to me as if the Michigan Education association and those sponsoring this legislation are really out-manoeuvring our congressmen and Governor Milliken. With the teachers asking for more than they expect to get and with the legislators and Governor Milliken trying to appease both the teacher and taxpayer by way of compromise, the M.E.A. will win what they wanted and that is the legal right to strike and probably force us (taxpayers) to pay for their strike time.

There should be no compromise on this bill as I feel this is a bad bill that will disrupt schools and strip our school boards of control. Either a bill is good or bad and should be passed or defeated on its merits not by way of compromises.

Our school boards have been more than generous with pay increases having just granted one to three thousand dollar pay raises to St. Joe school administrators on salaries of $15,000 to $30,000 per year. These raises alone are as much or more than many on pension and social security receive to live on. I soon expect all our teachers will be granted still more raises and all at a time when our schools are pleading poverty and requesting more money for busing and building repairs. What do you think it will be if the M.E.A. receives the right to strike our schools each year?

Now you say, "What is the answer?" I would suggest we all write our legislators and governor to defeat this legislation. I would also suggest we all give some thought to organizing a drive to operate our schools twelve months per year and let our teachers work 12 months instead of 8 or 9. By staggering our classes, each student could still have three-month vacations and we could use 1/3 less busing and 1/3 less school buildings with large savings to the taxpayers. Ridiculous? Not at all and if the costs of operating our schools continues to expand as it is we may find that this is a necessary and intelligent solution to our school problems.

EVERYTHING ISN'T ALL BAD

Editor:

I've just returned to Benton Harbor after working in citrus in Florida again since last October. The past season in Florida has been the toughest of any year that I've ever experienced; mainly due to many unemployed swarming there due to the recession or depression elsewhere. There were many new picking crews there the past season.

I left Winter Haven last Friday morning then drove here via Ocala, Fla.; Macon and Atlanta, Ga.; Chattanooga and Nashville; Louisville and Indianapolis; and South Bend. I drove much over the very traffic congested I-75 and I-24 expressways and the Kentucky and Indiana Turnpikes. After driving these routes twice a year for the past several years, I was amazed to see the "toll free" signs at all the Kentucky Turnpike pay stations and the lack of attendants there. After collecting several millions of dollars during the past several years, Kentucky must have the road paid for at last! I know this is good news for the Michigan residents who go to Florida.

I was very excited to see the beautiful fruit crops in Michigan this year. So everything isn't all bad!

How To Regulate The Regulators?

WASHINGTON — President Ford has an unsolvable problem on his hands.

At a meeting of small businessmen the other day the representative of one government regulatory agency stood up to take his audience to task.

The backlash almost shook him off the stage.

Hitherto mild businessmen told him his decisions and those of his agency were stupid and dangerous. One small manufacturer shouted out that the regulator and his fellows regularly labeled products dangerous with no more evidence than that dreamed up in their own fertile imaginations. What tests have you run? he was asked. When you set standards, what evidence do you have that they are necessary or even beneficial?

The official grew belligerent. He was unable to back up his rulings with evidence of research. He turned to threats, told those present that whatever they thought, they'd be run out of business unless they followed his rulings and those of his associates, however arbitrary they seemed.

He raised his voice. If you think you can buck us, try it. Or go to court.

But he and the small businessmen in the room knew that taking such cases to court would be so costly in money and time their businesses would likely go down the drain — even in victory. Some of their friends had followed this road to their sorrow.

There doesn't seem to be much argument over what is wrong. In all too many cases, the regulating agencies beam in on the form rather than the substance of a violation, or of compliance. They develop technical, legalistic procedures. Decisions by underlings tend to be anonymous; responsibility is often impossible to track down. Laws setting up the agencies are so vague, these bodies are a power unto themselves, often literally accountable to no one. Yet they regularly hold up technical advances, handicap the development of new energy sources, kill competition, create shortages and bolster monopolies which drive prices up and stimulate unemployment and cost us consumers an estimated $100 billion a year in inefficiency and higher cost.

Most congressmen know this. So do Mr. Ford's men. The Congress is deluged with letters from small businessmen, universities, and other independents complaining that the delays, mountains of paperwork required, arbitrary decisions, arrogance and stupid make-work rulings threaten their very existence. These complaints come from profit and nonprofit organizations alike.

With all this agreement, my contacts in Congress and the administration are convinced little change will take place — and that slowly.

It's not because Mr. Ford is not determined. At a closed meeting recently with 24 senators and representatives, he laid down the law in polite but no uncertain language. And he found almost complete agreement.

He's laying down the gauntlet again shortly in a session with the top men in his departments and agencies. Again, he'll likely find no opposition.

Everyone is for the principle. But private talks with men on Capitol Hill and in the administration, and a reading of hundreds of pages of analysis by researchers from Brookings Institution and other academic centers, makes clear Mr. Ford is jumping into a tar pit. Much of American government and business is tied in with these regulations, and many advocacy groups are involved.

The shift of profit between businesses would be so dramatic if efficient firms were allowed to gain at the expense of inefficient companies, kept afloat by government decree, that pressures on Congress against making significant changes in the regulating agencies will be fearsome to behold.

Mao's Thoughts Impress Priest

The Rev. William Van Etten Casey, S.J., an ideological swinger who edits the Holy Cross Quarterly, is one of my favorite characters in our cultural soap opera.

A couple of years ago, he devoted a much publicized issue of the magazine to the celebration of the Berrigan brothers, according them a sort of informal canonization. Shortly thereafter, amusingly enough, the two chic saints charged right off the reservation. One married a nun and the other made an around-the-bend speech, attacking Israel as a fascist war monger. He has not been seen or heard from since.

Well, Father Casey has now taken a three-week tour of eastern China, "sponsored by the U.S.-China Peoples Friendship Association," and, in addition, undertaken "a modest amount of reading about the old and the new China." And he has returned with the glad tidings.

The latest issue of his Holy Cross Quarterly, lavishly illustrated with smiling Chinese countenances, is a long hymn of praise to Chairman Mao and Communist China, which Father Casey considers — and I kid you not — morally superior not only to the United States but to every other Western nation.

Father Casey's introductory essay contains numerous passages that will undoubtedly become collectors' items. How about this passage, near the beginning? "Throughout the tour, I was most impressed with the richness and depth of the virtues of the new Chinese people. I found these people, variously, warm, friendly, courteous, cordial, cheerful, happy, content, gracious, helpful, sincere, patient, serene, relaxed, confident, diligent, industrious, intelligent, thrifty, clean, sober, naive, unopinionated, abstemious, curious, ascetical, stoical, puritanical, just, kind, purposeful, intent, dedicated, disciplined, self-sufficient, self-possessed, honest, reliable, trustworthy."

At length he steps back and pronounces a summarizing judgment; here is Father Casey's conclusion: "Mao's China is an immense country, enjoying profound peace, and superior to all Christian states in the practice of justice and equality . . . the most classless, just and equitable society yet created, a society where each citizen has enough, and none has too much . . . If Mao's China is a miracle now, it is not yet a paradise." I treasure that "yet."

When he turns briefly to the wretched United States, Father Casey struggles to say something about its virtues, but does not succeed. The impulse is defeated by the word "say": "The Chinese do not have the political, economic, and social freedoms that we say we have."

Except for those tenuous or non-existent freedoms, the comparison is entirely favorable to the Chinese. There "is no doubt that the Chinese, if they ever could know, would be appalled at the level of public morality in those western countries whose birth and development owe so much to the role of religion and who still pay lip service to the importance of religion in their lives. These nations, with religion, are sick from overdoses of violence, greed, injustice, selfishness, prejudice, pornography, crime, drugs and weapons, while China, without religion, is producing a healthy and virtuous people."

Another Firm Asks SJ City For Tax Cut

St. Joseph city commissioners set July 28 as the date for a public hearing on a tax exemption request made by Ireland & Lester Co. Inc., 220 North Wayne street.

Richard D. Eastman, general manager of Ireland & Lester, appeared before the commission last night and told tentative plans for an estimated $300,000-$450,000 in construction and rehabilitation efforts on the part of his company.

According to City Manager G.W. (Jerry) Hepler, the actual request at last night's meeting was for the establishment of a rehabilitation district. Hepler said once a resolution is passed establishing the rehabilitation district Ireland & Lester can then apply to the state for the tax exemption certificate.

Hepler said the tax exemption Ireland & Lester would apply for would be similar to tax relief being sought by Vail Rubber Works Inc. Both are being sought under the Michigan plant rehabilitation and industrial development districts act of 1974.

A public hearing on the Vail request has been set for next Monday. Vail is asking tax relief on a $250,000 addition at its plant, 512 Langley avenue. If granted the exemption would amount to 50 per cent of the property tax on the new addition for 12 years.

Eastman outlined two areas where work was being planned. Area 1 would be "the replacement of the obsolete concrete plant with a new packaged facility which would cost about $200,000."

Such a replacement is scheduled to begin this year and extend over a period of three years. Eastman explained, "The replacement will allow continued employment of the present 13 people and enhance the ability of the company to offer additional employment opportunities."

Eastman told the commission the bulk of the expense in Area 1 would be for the replacement of concrete facilities and equipment in the concrete plant that are worn out and outdated.

Area 2 would be restoration and dock facilities at an estimated cost of $100,000 to $250,000 dependent on financing and tenant requirements. Work on this is set to begin this year and also last three years.

Eastman said Area 2 would be concerned with restoration to correct structural and mechanical defects in the old Truscott boat building owned by Ireland & Lester. Eastman said, "Present level of employment is zero, potential employment could be upwards of 50 people."

In other business last night the commission approved a liquor license transfer request. City Clerk Charles Rhodes said the transfer was from Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Powers, owners of the Pump House lounge, 214 State street, to Henry A. Ingier, of Ingier Enterprises Inc. Rhodes said Ingier intends to buy the business from the Powers. Ingier resides at 6642 Stevensville-Baroda road, Stevensville.

The commission also granted a 60 day extension to Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Pedde to make repairs on their home at 911 Harrison avenue. The house had been determined unsafe and demolition proceedings had begun.

Miss Patricia Martin, 1256 Vineland avenue, and Miss Peggy Trowe, 323 Lake avenue, appeared before the commission and asked something be done about the garbage piling up at Silver Beach. The two women said garbage is overflowing from public trash containers at the beach. Hepler said it would be investigated immediately.

Cost Of Living Is Bit Above Average

The cost of living in the Twin Cities area is slightly above the national average—102.4 per cent, to be exact, according to a survey of 100 U.S. cities by the American Chamber of Commerce Research Association.

The Benton Harbor St. Joseph area ranked 59th from the top out of the 100 cities surveyed as to what it costs a middle management executive family of four with an annual income of $18,000 to $20,000 to live. The survey was for the second quarter of 1975.

Highest cost of living was reported in the survey as New York with 125 per cent of the national average, and low was Abilene, Texas, with 81.1 per cent.

In Michigan, the Twin Cities' 102.4 per cent ranked sixth of the eight cities surveyed by the association. High in the state was Ann Arbor with 108.7 per cent, and low was Holland with 90.7 per cent.

The cost of living index was also broken down into categories of food, housing, utilities, transportation, health and miscellaneous services.

Highest costs in the Twin Cities area, according to the survey, were in housing and transportation, with 107.9 and 109.4 per cent respectively. Its lower costs were listed as good and utilities, with 87.3 and 88.2 per cent of the national average, respectively.

Michigan cities and their relationship with the national average were: Ann Arbor, 108.7 per cent; Monroe, 105.6 per cent; Detroit, 105.3 per cent; Traverse City, 104.3 per cent; Lansing, 104.1 per cent; Twin Cities, 102.4 per cent; Hillsdale, 97.1 per cent, and Holland, 89.7 per cent.

Store's New Alarm Pays Off

A newly installed burglar alarm paid off at Gardner's Favorite Sports & Marine when thieves were frightened, and Benton Harbor police arrived within two minutes.

Don Clark, owner of the Riverview drive store, said police action was very prompt. A brick was thrown through a window the alarm and burglars dropped their intended loot of a backpack and tent.

The temperature of Lake Michigan at shoreline today is 74 degrees.

ODOR PROBLEM: Watervliet Paper company has admitted company has problem of odors arising from field where it sprays waste materials from daily operations. Aerial photographer Adolph Hann of Hartford who took this photo of spray field, said odor was apparent at 1,500 feet. Area residents have also complained of odor and company has said it is working with state's Department of Natural Resources to find solution. Spokesman for firm said earlier this month company has embarked on new process with hopes of deodorizing field. Richard Osborne, company president, said today firm has spent $10,000 in last month in efforts to ease odor problem through draining and chemical applications. Firm in 1972-73 built $1 million waste disposal system in which effluent waters are piped from plant about mile away. ## $2.4 Million BH Job Awarded To Pearson

The Benton Harbor city commission last night approved a $2,386,000 bid by Pearson Construction Co. of Benton Harbor to construct the city's community recreation center.

The three-level recreation center will be built with funds obtained by the city on land leased from the school district at the Benton Harbor high school campus. City Manager Charles Morrison said the bond issue would be amortized by the permanent public improvement fund and would not result in a tax increase. Morrison said the center should be completed in a year to 18 months after construction starts. Plans call for an ice hockey rink, an Olympic size swimming pool, handball court, a large multipurpose room and offices for the recreation director.

Not included in the bid approved last night is the construction of a flexible dome roof for the hockey rink. Morrison said funds for the roof, which would cost approximately $200,000, are still being sought.

Pearson submitted a bid of $2,875,000 on the total project before the roof construction was eliminated. The only other bid on the center was by Holland

Construction Co. of St. Joseph which made a total bid of $2,890,811.

The commission also directed the city manager to draw up a plan for financing the center. Funding for the center is slated to come from the state Department of Natural Resources, $500,000; the federal Economic Development Administration, $400,000; Berrien county revenue sharing, $80,000; federal Model Cities and Community Development funds, $200,000, and a local bond issue, $800,000.

Approval of the bid does not represent formal awarding of the contract which is contingent on receiving all of the financing to cover the project, according to Morrison.

In other business, the commission voted to meet Wednesday to decide whether it will begin proceedings to hire a new city manager or ask City Manager Morrison to remain.

Morrison resigned June 9 when a commission vote of confidence in Morrison failed in a tie vote. Commissioner Carl Brown requested the meeting "so that we do not run into the same problem we did with the resignation of the city attorney (Carl Cooper)."

Cooper resigned effective June 26 and was asked by the commission to remain for one week. The city then hired the Benton Harbor law firm of Gavin & McDonald to act as the city's attorney until a new attorney for the city could be hired. K. Morris Gavin, partner in that firm, sat in his first city commission meeting last night.

The commission withheld action on a new proposed landlord-tenant ordinance until a new attorney for the city is hired. Several landlords appeared before the commission last night protesting the proposed ordinance.

A dispute over a water shortage problem at Crystal Springs cemetery was resolved last night.

Cecilia Burke, 971 Ramona avenue, appeared before the commission and complained that the Berrien county health department had ordered the water turned off at the cemetery for health reasons.

Commissioner Edmund Eaman said that someone "had apparently drunk the water and became ill." He said the water was for irrigation use only and was run-off from nearby ditches. He said the county health department had agreed to rescind the order if signs were posted at each faucet warning visitors that drinking

Benson: My Unit Remains Foe Of Loop

Supervisor Orval L. Benson reaffirmed St. Joseph township opposition to the proposed I-94 penetrator last night saying residents have not indicated they have changed their minds.

Benson said township residents, as recently as the 1975 annual meeting in April, voted to oppose the penetrator. (Opposition was registered by 42 people at the annual meeting.) There is no indication of any change in their attitude, Benson said. More and more people are against constructing a limited access, four-lane, divided highway through the township from I-94 to the St. Joseph city limits, Benson said.

Benson was replying to an editorial in this newspaper regarding long-term township opposition to the penetrator.

Benson pledged to continue the fight. He responded to a commentary over St. Joseph radio station WSJM, advocating the penetrator as a means of relieving twin city traffic congestion, saying: "the penetrator would not take one car off streets anywhere."

Benson said it was "ridiculous" that he was afraid of losing his job. Benson referred to the nature of the penetrator, further dividing the township and the possibility isolated segments might break away from the township.

In other action the township board approved $7,050 for the Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage Treatment Authority for its annual operation. The authority is a joint venture between St. Joseph and Lincoln townships.

Trustee Robert DeVries, chairman of the authority, reported officers re-elected at the annual meeting of the authority last month. They include DeVries as chairman, Donald Chapman of Lincoln township, vice chairman, Lowell Pepper, St. Joseph township, treasurer: Robert (Jack) Greendanner of Lincoln township was elected secretary.

Benson reported federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds have been continued indefinitely. The township has one clerk and two police officers hired with CETA funds.

The board voted to deny a request for solicitation of funds by the Michigan Conference of Seventh Day Adventists in its Community Action Crusade for Better Living. The request said any funds received would be used to fight delinquency, drug abuse and disease. Trustees indicated method of solicitation was ambiguous.

Trustee Sally Mutz suggested the township zero in on one bicentennial project. She distributed a list of ideas. She said one would be to locate the Indian trail that ran to Berrien Springs and mark it with a plaque. Another would be to mark the only known living Indian trail marker tree in the county which is located in St. Joseph township.

Dennis A. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Davis, 1792 Crystal court, was bitten by a large German Shepherd while he was walking with his parents near the north pier about 7 p.m., police said.

Police said there would be no action taken against the dog's owners, a young couple, but did not learn their names, or addresses.

Police urged the owners to call the police department as soon as possible.

A four-year-old Benton township boy will have to go through a painful series of rabies vaccinations unless the owners of the dog that bit him yesterday are located, according to St. Joseph police.

Journalists Plan Area Society Chapter

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — A chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national society of professional journalists, is being organized in the northern Indiana and southern Michigan area, according to Miss Kathy Youngerman of South Bend.

The first organizational meeting will be at 1 p.m., Saturday, July 12, in the 14th-floor meeting room of the St. Joseph Bank and Trust company, 202 South Michigan street, South Bend.

The local chapter may draw its membership from an area half-way to Chicago, Indianapolis, Ann Arbor and East Lansing, where other chapters are located. Members must have been engaged at least one year in journalism and be principally engaged in journalism at the time of joining the society.

Further information about the meeting or the chapter may be obtained from Bruce Kohn, South Bend; Mary Lynn Clark, Elkhart; Bob Burns, Michigan City; and Barbara Nawrot, Buchanan.

Freedom Train Due Soon

The Freedom Train will be in Kalamazoo Friday and Saturday, July 11 and 12, not July 14 as reported in the Historical Society of Michigan's newsletter and published June 30 in this newspaper. The train also will be at Grand Rapids Wednesday and Thursday. The newsletter had given a different schedule for Grand Rapids, and the schedule was changed after the newsletter was published.

The 25-car train is loaded with documents and artifacts on U.S. history. It is sponsored by the American Freedom Train Foundation. The Kalamazoo stop will be at North Pitcher street between Mosel and Patterson streets.

The Freedom Train also is scheduled to be in South Bend, Ind., next Monday through Wednesday, July 14-16, on a spur line behind St. Joseph high school in the north side of the city.

Robins Forsake Bus Nest

That mother robin who built a nest on the front wheel of a spare St. Joseph school bus hustled her three offspring out of the nest as fast as she could, Chet Ogonski, mechanic for St. Joseph public schools, said the mother robin wasted no time in teaching her young how to fly. She left about the time school was dismissed for the summer, Ogonski said.

The mother robin built her nest on top of the front right wheel of a school bus. When it was necessary to use the bus, drivers would carefully put the nest in a box and returned the nest when the bus had finished its run. Bus Supervisor George Anderson said "we didn't use that bus any more than we had to."

But the traffic around the bus storage lot on Glenford avenue in south St. Joseph apparently discouraged the mother robin from spending any more time there than she had to. The nest was pictured in The Herald-Palladium May 8.

AFRICAN DISPLAY: Barbara Paxson, a St. Joseph artist, is displaying her collection of African arts and crafts in the showcase at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, St. Joseph, during the month of July. Also on display for the month in the library auditorium are paintings and drawings Paxson did as posters, mostly of mothers and children, in connection with her work in health education while serving in the Peace Corps in Sierra Leone, Africa. Paxson, a graduate of Kalamazoo college, has been in Africa three times, first as a Kalamazoo college exchange student in 1965, later as a research assistant to an art historian, and most recently (until 1973) as a Peace Corps volunteer in Sierra Leone. Paxson is holding a hand-carved wooden loom heddle, from the Guro tribe. Below is a hunting society mask from Sierra Leone, and woven piece in background is a country cloth from Sierra Leone. ## Seasonal Allergies Dreaded Summer may be the most offending season for allergy-prone individuals, whether their sensitivity is to insect stings, pollens or simply the sun. Hay fever sufferers particularly dread the coming months and accompanying high pollen count.

However, many people don't have to wait until the August ragweed season for the runny noses and headaches. Such excitants as house dust, feathers, and dog and cat fur may trigger the same reactions in susceptible persons all year round. Even "hay fever," a term applied to seasonal allergies caused by sensitization to pollens, is not confined to the late summer and early fall months when it seems to be most widespread.

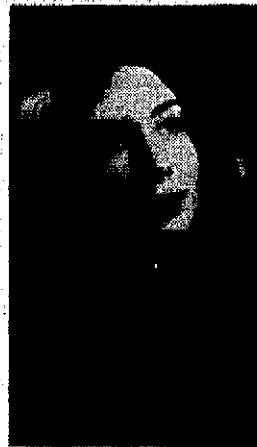

In those portions of the United States where killing frosts are rare, such as coastal California and the areas bordering the Gulf of Mexico, allergy-causing pollens may start circulating as early as January. The "summer type" of hay fever, touched off by grass pollens and plants such as plantain and sorrel, usually begins in the middle or end of May and lasts until the middle of July. The season is longer in Southern states, and in the far South it may continue for almost the entire year.

The late summer-early fall variety begins in mid-August and usually extends to the first frost, particularly in the eastern two-thirds of the country where ragweed is the chief excitant.

Nose drops and sprays help to temporarily relieve some of the common symptoms of year round and seasonal nasal allergies.

Such topical decongestants are preferred in acute cases because they work fast and are delivered right into the nasal passages where the need is greatest, according to a report in a recent issue of American Druggist. "Topical sprays and drops also produce fewer undesirable side-effects, and are particularly useful for children with stuffy noses who have difficulty breathing or sucking," the report advises.

New Trend In Neckwear

A new and attractive trend in neckwear is the rope-wrapped scarf. Fold a square scarf into a triangle then fold the two points opposite the fold down toward the fold so the scarf forms an oblong.

Twist the scarf several times until it's a rope-like coil. Tie this around your neck, using a square knot leaving the ends free. The silkier the scarf the less coil you'll get, cotton scarves are the best for this effect.

LITTLE LIBBERS COME OUT SWINGING

Drafts Girls' 'Bill Of Rights'

By ELLIE GROSSMAN

NEW YORK — (NEA) — It's a Little Women's Lib movement, really, and the Girls Clubs of America is leading it.

Once a center for young homemakers — to be, the 30-year-old voluntary youth agency has come to terms with reality.

It's looking for the young female dropout or drug addict or probationer and inviting her in.

It's allowing her to decide what kind of help she wants and then trying to supply it.

And, to make her and the public aware of her place in society, it's formulating a new Girls Bill of Rights.

A girl's primary right, according to Edith Blakeslee Phelps, GCA National executive director, is the right to be taken seriously.

"There are not enough people who take girls seriously and are sensitive to their needs," she says.

"That's why, we believe, there's been a noticeable increase in the crime rate and drop-out rate among girls, and why recidivism among them has jumped from 20 to 40 per cent."

"Take public and foundation funding, for example. People will listen to fund-raising pleas from a boys' school before they'll listen to pleas for a girls' school. Boys receive from three to eight times more aid than girls."

It may be unconscious discrimination, reflecting an attitude centuries old (girls get married and stay home; why waste education on them?) or it may be deliberate. Still, it persists. On more inconsequential levels, too.

"If there's a local public pool," Mrs. Phelps says, "it's very usual to have the boys given more use of it than girls, at more convenient hours."

The girl of today, confused and uncertain of her role because of social upheaval, is faced with many more difficult questions than before. Questions she may not even be aware of.

"Girls should know they have options, that there are decisions to be made. One of our priorities is to find that girl who wouldn't think to come to us for guidance on her real questions: Should I marry? Can I be successful in a career and at home? What are my chances of getting it?"

"She should know she has the right to decide what to do with her life and that she can get help doing it."

There are 230 Girls Club units across the country serving 174,000 girls, mostly underprivileged. Each operates according to its own needs.

"There's almost nothing imposed from this office beyond the basic elements of purpose and accountability," Mrs. Phelps says. "The Girls Club of New York, for instance, has a remedial reading program because the girls realized they can't get the education they need without some special assistance. In Minneapolis, they have several counseling programs on sexuality and the family which include parents."

Fifty-seven per cent of the clubs sponsor drug abuse prevention programs; 54 per cent work with girls on probation and a few run half-way houses.

Almost all offer pre-career counseling programs and many offer apprenticeship opportunities and guidance from local professional women.

All of it is needed. "We receive from 300 to 500 letters every month from girls or interested adults asking where the nearest club is or how they can organize one," Mrs. Phelps says.

"We have a definite procedure to follow for creating a new club. We advise people whom to contact in the community to assess the need for a club there. Then one of our regional field supervisors goes in to pick up from there.

"There must be a professionally competent staff of at least an executive director and a program director. And the distinction of this agency is that we're always building-based which means there must be a place, physically, to go.

"In the past year, we've had a 40 per cent increase in the number of clubs around the country, but there are still a great number of girls out there who need us."

Some day, Mrs. Phelps hopes, there won't be a need for a "girls" club. "We as an organization should speak to everyone's needs. But until attitudes are completely changed so that we're talking about human beings and not this group or that, our priority is to be an advocate of rights of girls."

Musicals Highlight Theatre Week

Schedule Comedies

LAKESHORE COMMUNITY THEATRE

Lakeshore Community Theatre will present Meredith Wilson's "The Music Man" Friday and Saturday, July 11 and 12, at 8 p.m. at Lakeshore high school auditorium.

The family musical tells the story of Harold Hill, a traveling salesman charlatan who cannot read music or play an instrument, but is the hottest instrument salesman traveling in the Midwest in 1912.

Professor Hill arrives in River City, Ia., on the Rock Island and during his one week stay convinces the townspeople that they need a big brass band. His motives are dishonest but while fleecing his customers he transforms a dull town into a singing and dancing community.

In the role of Harold Hill is Dick Follett. Nancy Spitters will play Marian the librarian and Greg Robins will be Winthrop. Other major roles are Kent Goetz as Marcellus, Tim Cupprisin as Mayor Shinn and Jan Lindensfeld as Eulalie Shinn.

This year's company includes 70 area residents from Stevensville, Berrien Springs, Coloma, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Baroda.

Staging is unique for this production and the audience will sit in the round on the stage of the auditorium. Seating will be limited.

The production is under the direction of Ken and Patricia Lindahl. Sharon Scherr is choreographer. Arnie Lesser will be musical accompanist and Chip Harper will be on drums.

The theatre's next production will be "Gypsy," Aug. 8 and 9.

SISTER LAKES

Jan Gould Stroud and Bob Stroud will star in Norman Krassa's "Love in E-Flat," at Sister Lakes Playhouse, Sister Lakes, Wednesday, July 9, through Sunday, July 13.

Curtain times are 8:30 p.m. each night except Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

"Love in E-Flat" is a romantic comedy about a young intern named Howard and his girl friend Amy. Howard is over-worked and underpaid, but in every other way, he has it made. He and Amy have a cozy arrangement without the complications of marriage. He has convinced her that their relationship (based on mutual trust) is far superior to the deceptions of married life.

When Amy discovers that Howard has secretly "bugged" her apartment and that her comings and goings have been monitored when Howard is not around, she manufactures some choice bits of information for him she is "expecting" and is about to take up with another man.

Other cast members are Michael Chase, Linda Carol Davis, Hal Vaughn Jr. and Tom Nolan. Robert Gras is the director.

RED BARN

The rock opera, "Jesus Christ, Superstar," is in its second and final week of performances at the Red Barn Theatre in Saugatuck.

Prolong Life Of Curtains

Give longer life to shower curtains and liners by laundering them before water spots, scum and mildew build up and become difficult to remove.

Laundry and dry fabric ensembles according to fabric type. Plastic items may be machine washed in warm water and a short time — about four minutes. Dry plastics in a dryer, using air setting only.

Modern Chamois Has Many Uses

Modern chamois is the inner split of sheepskin that has been tanned in a unique manner.

A major characteristic is its ability to absorb large quantities of water. It also leaves surfaces completely dry and removes particles that might have been missed in washing. Chamois brings out luster, eliminates streaks and is lintless.

Strange as it may sound, a wet chamois is used to dry wet surfaces that have been washed clean. It is an excellent cleaning aid for cars, boats, windows, windshields and vinyl upholstery. It brings out the shine of chrome and other metals.

Used dry, chamois will shine silver and stainless steel, add sparkle to jewelry or remove dust from phonograph records, photographic equipment and television screens. Chamois makes a good nail buffer and is often used in lotioning. Assuring a high gloss finish, chamois is also effective for waxed or varnished surfaces on furniture.

Chamois may be machine laundered or washed by hand after each use. Such simple care will extend its life and preserve the cloth's fine quality, advises The Soap and Detergent Association.

The original chamois was in fact a goat-like animal of Central Europe. It provided villagers with meat and its soft, fine quality skin was processed by local tanners. It was then made into leather gloves and polishing cloths used to clean and shine glass, wood, jewels and fine metals, such as gold and silver. The chamois became near extinct and has not been commercially available for almost a century.

Besides chamois made from sheepskin, today there is a synthetic chamois. Developed in the late 1960's, it is made of a non-woven material and is available for household cleaning jobs as well as heavy duty professional use. Though less expensive than natural chamois, the synthetic has similar characteristics, one of which is that it improves with use.

However, it is recommended that the synthetic variety be used wet or damp rather than dry to assure maximum absorbency. It, too, is machine washable and impervious to mold or mildew.

Contain Needed Nutrients

Should Americans eat more vegetables? Yes, say most nutritionists.

Americans would benefit nutritionally by eating more vegetables — four or more servings a day (including fruits). Vegetables as a group are important sources of Vitamin C and Vitamin A and contribute useful amounts of iron — three nutrients most frequently found lacking in our diets according to every recent survey.

In addition, they contribute a wide variety of the 20 or so other vitamins and minerals needed.

Try Cool Cherry Salad

Beat 2 egg yolks with 1/4 cup sugar until thick and lemon-colored. Whip 3/4 cup heavy cream.

Fold into egg yolk mixture. Add 2 cups halved and pitted fresh sweet cherries, 1 cup orange sections cut in half and 1 cup pineapple chunks. Chill. At serving time fold in 1 banana, sliced. Garnish with whole cherries with stems. Makes 6 servings.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Sneaky As Cats He Hates

Dear Ann Landers: My husband will not let me have a cat because he claims they are dirty and sneaky. He's always saying, "I can't stand sneaky animals or sneaky people."

Long ago I discovered this man who couldn't stand sneakiness was sneaking off to a motel room at least twice a month with his bookkeeper. He gave himself away when he came home wearing new undershorts, of a different brand than I buy him. I couldn't figure out who his playmate was so the next time he made an excuse to leave town, I followed him and saw him pick up the office trip.

Now it is four years later and he is pulling the same stunt with his boss's wife. He feels that so long as he's good to me, brings home a paycheck and a few gifts now and then, I should let him do his thing.

I can't believe you would stick up for a man like this. I'm 38, married 19 years, and I don't nag. I do nearly anything he asks and he treats me this way. Why?? He says, "NO divorce. I'd miss you too much." How does that grab you? — Feeling Low

Dear Feeling Low: Your little boy who needs those periodic ego boosts is a pathetic case. And he has millions of fraternity brothers, from Maine to California.

If you really want a divorce you can get one. He doesn't have to "give" you one. You have grounds aplenty and you know it.

Dental Rip-Off

Dear Ann Landers: I have been working for the same dentist for almost eight years and I've decided it's time I spoke out in the interest of Mr. John Q. Public — Number One Sucker.

Many patients don't realize the value of the gold in their mouths. When a dentist suggests that a tooth with a gold crown or an inlay be refilled or replaced, the old gold should be given to the patient because he paid for it. My dentist says he throws it away, but I've seen him get as much as $600 for gold he was supposed to have "thrown away."

All dentists should give their patients the old crowns, inlays or bridges and inform the patients of the approximate value. Dentists KNOW the value because they pay current gold prices every day.

Please print this letter. Hundreds of people are being ripped every day because they are uninformed and I think it's lousy. — No Goldigger

Dear No G.D.: Your advice is worth its weight in gold. You may not realize it, but you performed a valuable service today, and I thank you from the bottom of my inlays.

Dogs Shy

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell the lady who is afraid her poodle is a homosexual not to give up. My sister had a Boston bull. She was eager for him to mate and found the perfect bride.

The first time the "honeymooners" were together, Goober played dead, ran around the room, barked and then went to sleep. She tried three times to get Goober married — each time watching and hoping. No success. When she left Goober and his fourth bride alone overnight something must have happened because three months later Goober was the proud father of a lovely litter. Suggest privacy, please. — Grand Rapids, Michigan

Dear Grand: O.K. Turn out the lights and leave him alone with a girl. That's my advice to the lady who thinks her poodle is gay.

Dr. Lester Coleman

As I grow older I find that my need for sleep diminishes. There once was a time when I needed 10 hours of sleep. Now at 65, I seem to be getting along on five ours. Do doctors find that this commonly happens?

Mr. J.B., W. Va.

Dear Mr. B.: Patterns of sleep do not fit into any general rule. These sleep patterns may vary with age, with freedom from emotional tensions and with the general state of good health.

It is well known that people can slowly retrain their sleep habits and reduce the need for many hours of sleep without endangering health.

Far too many people have a preconceived idea about how much sleep they need. They go into an emotional tangle if they fail to have the exact number of hours they allocate for themselves.

The body is a remarkably wise machine and knows how to adjust sleep requirements. It should not be a source of concern to you that your need for sleep is different now than it formerly was. Your body exertions may be less and, consequently, the hours needed for sleep rejuvenation are reduced.

Can vibrating machines be used for reducing? I see them advertised and I'm tempted.

Mrs. F.A., R.I.

Dear Mrs. A.: These machines have little or no value in losing weight. Beware of those who use these machines as another technique of exploiting the gullible public who are desperately seeking new methods of losing weight.

Vibrating machines are excellent for giving added tone and support for body muscles. They may firm these muscles and perhaps help take inches off the waist and hips.

They are not, however, a substitute for the simple rule of losing weight. That is, when you consume more calories in your food than your body expends in energy, a gain in weight is inevitable.

Conversely, if you consume fewer calories than your body expends in energy, you will lose weight, with or without vibrating machines.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

For Wednesday, July 9, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Domestic pressures will be a bit heavier today than usual. Situations won't be helped if you let outsiders put in their two-cents' worth.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Weigh your words carefully again today. Certain parties in the wings are looking for a reason to take a pot shot at you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your checkbook with have to be treated with respect or it may not tally at day's end. Don't take any flyers.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It will be a bit difficult to set a course of action today and stick to it. Priorities will be neglected.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's unusual to let others think for you. Today you will. Unfortunately, their suggestions may not be to your benefit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You still have to be careful in arrangements with friends where money or something of a material value is at stake. Proceed with caution.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Behave today so that your reputation is protected at all costs. It's best you be idealistic, rather than expedient.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't champion an unpopular cause today regardless of how strongly you feel about it. Wait till the odds are more in your favor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your "markers" may be called in today on obligations to two different parties. Do what you can to clear things up now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try not to let others pressure you into decisions that are against your better judgment. A firm "No" is better than a weak "Yes."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's not a good day to change proven work routines. An operational change could prove to be the long way around.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're lucky today, but only within certain bounds. Don't take any foolish risks or chances.

July 9, 1975

A career opportunity comes your way this year, but it will only be a door-opener. What you make of it will depend upon how diligently you respond and how well you're prepared.

There is one free rebid that does have a special meaning. That is the free rebid in no-trump. It must show that you can stop the suit that your opponent has been kind of unkind enough to bid.

Thus, North has a very normal one-notrump rebid after South's one-heart response. When West bids a spade, North just can't bid one notrump (he can't stop spades.)

He might try two diamonds, but his hand is a complete minimum. The diamond suit is nothing to sing psalms of joy about.

When the spade bid comes around to South he can bid no-trump and jumps to two with his 12 high-card points.

North raises to game. West opens his fourth best spade and South rattles off his nine tricks and wins the rubber.

Since might-have-beens are worth discussing we must point out that if West had passed, North would have bid one notrump. South would have raised to three and East would have been on lead.

East might well have led the jack of spades, rather than his fourth best club and the hand would have collapsed.

Ask the Jacobys

From time to time we are asked if honors count when held by a defender. The answer is that they do. It usually amounts to extra loss since few contracts are ever fulfilled when a defender holds a hundred honors against declarer.

Oh, yes! Honors also count when dummy holds them.

Next Chrysler President?

Chrysler To Name Two Top Executives Today

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. President John J. Riccardo will likely be named the new chairman of the company today when the corporation's board of directors meets in New York.

The board reportedly is meeting to accept the retirement of embattled Chairman Lynn A. Townsend and to name his successor.

Industry analysts say Riccardo is regarded as a shoe-in to take over as chairman and Vice President Eugene J. Cafiero is the favorite to become president.

Townsend is stepping down voluntarily Oct. 1, after nearly nine years as head of the auto company. He has been the target of criticism because Chrysler lost a record $52 million last year, more than any other U.S. manufacturer.

Both Riccardo and Cafiero are Townsend proteges and would likely continue policies set by the 56-year-old chairman. Townsend said he will recommend his successor to the board.

In an interview, Townsend said it wouldn't take "any great assumption" to guess his choice as a successor. A company spokesman said Townsend, Riccardo and Cafiero were to appear at a news conference this afternoon in Detroit.

Townsend made the unexpected retirement announcement last Thursday. He was named Chrysler president in 1961 and chairman in 1967.

In Townsend's announcement, Riccardo and Cafiero were given expanded responsibilities, and four vice presidents were made executive vice presidents.

In addition, Townsend said a new operations committee headed by Riccardo would replace the administration committee formed in 1961 to run Chrysler. Observers said the action in effect makes Riccardo the chief executive officer three months before he would officially assume the position.

Townsend indicated he has no immediate plans for the future. He said his retirement would lead to "an early and orderly transition of leadership to our younger executives."

Chrysler has lost $176 million since July 1974 and is expected to report additional large losses until this fall.

The firm's car sales are off nearly 30 per cent from last year's depressed levels and its share of the domestic market has decreased.

Despite harsh criticism of Townsend's management policies from some quarters —

Police Arrest 2nd Ypsilanti Escapee

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police arrested a second escaped mental patient Monday and located another following a story in the Detroit Free Press.

The newspaper's story, which located seven missing patients, including four who faced murder charges, said no serious attempts had been made by officials to locate the escapees.

Arrested Monday was Aubrey Forden, 35, who was found at his Detroit home. Forden escaped from the maximum security Forensic Center in Ypsilanti last July 24.

He was originally arrested for the assault and armed robbery of a Detroit woman in March, 1971, was found insane and committed to the forensic center.

Police also located Michael Arthur Ferland, 32, in his home. Ferland was committed after being tried for killing a man with the leg of a chair in a down town Detroit hotel in 1969.

He failed to return to the Forensic Center after a four day leave in 1974.

Police did not arrest Ferland because his physician told them that Ferland recently had back surgery and should not be moved. Police arrested the first escapee Sunday following a citizen complaint based on the newspaper story.

Dr. Donald C. Smith, acting director of the state Department of Mental Health, refused to comment on the allegations no serious attempts were made to find escaped patients.

A department spokesman said Smith "did not want to make

Israeli Denies U.S. Threats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz says the United States has not threatened to hold back military aid unless Israel yields two strategic Sinai mountain passes to Egypt.

"We have never been told this," Dinitz said after a two-hour meeting Monday night with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

SEES POLITICAL ACTION

Michigander Heads NEA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teachers will take a more active political role, from endorsing a presidential candidate to lobbying for collective bargaining, the president-elect of the National Education Association promises.

"Every politician big enough to carry an attaché case says education is the backbone of this society," John E. Ryor said. "I believe it is, and I think teachers are the glue to that society. But I see nothing consistent to that in the way they are paid, the way they are treated."

Ryor, 40, a high school mathematics teacher from Springfield, Mich., ousted incumbent NEA President James Harris in an election Monday at the association's annual meeting here. He will head the 1.7 million member organization for two years starting Sept. 1. The vote was 4,179 to 3,587.

Both candidates fashioned themselves as activists and ran on basically the same platform. But Ryor was said to be the more aggressive and outspoken.

NEA members credited those characteristics with his election, rather than any personal philosophical differences between him and Harris.

Ryor told a news conference after his election that the association will back office seekers sympathetic to education and oppose those who are not. President Ford now falls into the latter category, he said.

"If his record on education to date is an indication of where he's going, I think it's an abomination," said Ryor, a liberal Democrat who supported Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., for President in 1972.

The NEA president-elect also said collective bargaining is the answer to the rising number of teacher strikes across the nation.

"One of the things that leads to strikes is the frustration of teachers who have no meaningful way to deal with issues they are concerned about," Ryor said.

"Until there is a way for them to sit down with their boards of education and deal with the problems that concern them," Ryor warned, "there will be increasing frustration and increasing strikes."

Ryor also said he does not favor a merger of the NEA, the largest teacher association in the country, with either the AFL-CIO or the American Federation of Teachers.

He added the NEA will continue to enthusiastically support the development of the Coalition of American Public Employees, an organization of teachers, hospital workers and others.

Young Agnew Arrested For Trespassing

BALTIMORE (AP) — James Randy Agnew, 29-year-old son of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, has been charged with trespassing after a man complained he and his wife caught Agnew looking in their window, police say.

Police information officer Dennis Hill said Agnew was released on his own recognizance Monday after he was arrested.

Hill said the northern Baltimore man who complained told police he had been watching television early Monday morning with his wife when she went into another room, saw what she thought was a face at the window and called her husband.

The husband saw the face, ran outside, grabbed Agnew and held him until police arrived, Hill said.

ALL ABOUT FOODS

NUTRITION

As you may have noticed, there's more talk everyday about foods being fortified. And that's all to the good.

To explain why, I'll have to start with some rather shocking statistics. Two surveys made ten years apart by the United States Department of Agriculture, show that nutritionally, at least, our eating habits are somewhat not the best.

In 1955, according to the USDA only fifteen percent of the households surveyed had "poor" diets, and sixty percent had "good" diets. But by 1965, twenty percent had "poor" diets, and only fifty percent had "good" diets.

One of the problems, unfortunately, is that good nutrition just didn't seem to have much sales appeal. An industry leader pointed out that his company had less and less success with its nutritionally best cereal. And another firm relates that it had been advertising and promoting one particular cereal for seven years on the basis of nutrition. The cereal sold well enough...but at the end of seven years, only nine percent of the people who bought it did so because of its nutritional value!

One solution, of course, was to fortify foods that do have sales appeal, and thus make us healthier in spite of ourselves. Today, this is being done, especially with the new synthetic and fabricated foods.

Both government and industry leaders agree that fortification should be nutritionally as close as possible to the foods they replace. In fact, government will ensure that nutrition labeling is not exploited or abused by those who would seek to gain unfair promotional advantages.

Another thing our guidelines assure is the money you'll save by shopping SCHNECK'S. So come in...and "fortify" your budget!

Lobbyist Works Hard Trying To Save School Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Influential AFL-CIO lobbyist Sy Chapple is hard at work on a school strike bill, trying to make sure what was won in the House isn't lost in the Senate.

What was won was the right to strike for five weeks. Three of those weeks could be made up later — with pay — by extending the school year.

The provisions adhered to the labor line, and Gov. William Milliken promised to veto it. When it went to the Senate Labor Committee it was heavily modified, and now faces the floor test.

On Monday night, Chapple was at the doors of the state Senate well before most of the members arrived for session.

Sy, a familiar face around the Capitol and part of the AFL-CIO's string-pulling force in the Democratic-controlled legislature, didn't want to be late for one of his more important jobs.

The job is to line up votes to support the version of the strike bill which passed the House.

Heading the forces of change in the Senate was Democratic Sen. David Plawewski, who is under constituent pressure to restrict teacher strikes. Under his guidance the committee tightened up the bill to limit strikes to just three weeks. Economic penalties would begin within one week — and immediately in some cases.

Such a change is bitterly opposed by labor — hence Chapple's diligence Monday night in time to collar Democratic lawmakers to make sure they understood.

The committee amendments must be voted on by the full Senate, and it was too early Monday to count the noses; many members hadn't even seen the amendments yet. The Democrats will caucus on Wednesday to discuss their position — a sure indication of a tough, partisan battle shaping up.

"We'll know better after tomorrow," Chapple said when asked if he had the votes to kill the amendments. "You can't let people (teachers) have freedom to strike and then take it away from them. The bill will spur strikes all over the state."

Democratic leaders spoke cautiously, but indicated continued support for the House version. House Majority Floor Leader Joseph Forbes of Oak Park predicted the bill would go to a conference committee unless the amendments were removed.

High Court Turns Down Youngblood Bribe Case

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Supreme Court has refused to reconsider an appeals court decision which reversed the convictions of a former state senator and a judge. However, the attorney general may appeal to federal courts.

Former Sen. Charles Youngblood, Wayne County Probate Judge Frank Szymanski and Grosse Pointe Shores beer distributor Louis Pappas were convicted on Oct. 17, 1973 of conspiring to bribe liquor commission chairman Stanley Thayer. The alleged bribe was claimed to have been made to help get liquor licenses for three suburban Detroit supermarkets.

When the appeals court reversed the Wayne County Circuit Court convictions in March, the attorney general asked the Supreme Court to consider the case.

"We didn't feel the Supreme Court could turn us down because we felt we were right on the matter of law," said Vincent Piersante, chief of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's organized crime division. That agency took part in the probe that led to the indictments of the three men.

The appeals court ruled last March there was no proof that Szymanski or Pappas were involved in a conspiracy to bribe.

However, the appeals court said it did find evidence in the record which could lead the jury to infer that Youngblood knew the purpose of the alleged conspiracy was to bribe Thayer.

But, the court threw out all three convictions, saying there could be no conspiracy to bribe if only one person was involved.

Justice John Swainson was the only one of the seven justices who did not sign the Supreme Court order. Swainson has been indicted on charges in a separate bribery case and has withdrawn from court business.

KIDNAPERS SAY END SEARCH Lebanese 'Negotiating'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese security forces are continuing their search for Col. Ernest R. Morgan despite his kidnapers' demand that the hunt be called off.

The Lebanese government said it was negotiating with the Lebanese Muslim revolutionaries who took the 43-year-old U.S. Army officer from Petersburg, Va., prisoner nine days ago and vowed to kill him unless the American Embassy met ransom demands by 9 p.m. Wednesday.

In a letter to U.S. Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley, the kidnapers demanded that authorities stop looking for the colonel and that the U.S. Embassy supply free food, clothing and building materials to the Muslim slum dwellers in the Slaughterhouse district of Beirut.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Robert Anderson refused to say whether the U.S. government would pay the ransom, but he added, "Our policy is very well known." That policy has always been not to comply with such demands.

Anderson stressed that the Lebanese government was dealing with the situation.

Premier Rashid Karami promised that there would be no letup in the search for Morgan. Police interrogated several persons who had been kidnaped by gunmen during the street fighting in Beirut. They told police they saw Morgan at a building somewhere in the country, but they said they could not locate it because they had been blindfolded.

Morgan was taken from a taxi at a traffic circle near the airport on June 29, at the height of the fighting between Palestinian and Lebanese leftist Muslims and militiamen of the right-wing Christian Phalange party. The colonel is stationed in Turkey, and was stopping for the night in Beirut on his way back from a meeting in Pakistan.

A terrorist group calling itself the Socialist Revolutionary Action Organization said it abducted Morgan. Its ransom demand was accompanied by tape recordings presumably made by the colonel in which he said he was being treated well and was in no immediate danger. But he warned that his captors "are serious in their demands."

Sawainson, Attorney To Meet

DETROIT (AP) — Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson, indicted last week on charges of perjury and conspiracy, will meet with his attorney this week to discuss possible future actions.

"He will be in the office probably the early part of the week and we will discuss the situation at that time," said attorney Konrad Kohl.

Kohl said he was "sure" he and Swainson would discuss the possibility of Swainson's resignation. But he said the resignation issue "is not a legal decision but a personal one, and I can't say anything about any change in plans."

Swainson has said he will not resign and will fight bribery charges which have been leveled against him by a grand jury.

Swainson and two bail-bondsmen, Charles Goldfarb and Harvey Wish, were indicted Thursday. Charges stemmed from a $20,000 bribe allegedly taken by Swainson to help get a new trial for convicted robber John Whalen.

Swainson withdrew from participating in Supreme Court cases last May during the course of the grand jury investigation. Kohl said last week that Swainson "will not resign."

Kohl said Swainson believes he "has an obligation to his family and to the people of Michigan to clear his name in a court of law."

Funds Sought For Berrien Senior Citizens Center

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Larry French, Berrien Springs village councilman, told the council last night that a senior citizens center in the village would have to close within a month if it could not raise enough local funds to qualify for a federal grant.

French said the Central County Senior Citizens center was faced with the prospect because of a federal requirement that the center raise its share by a certain date to qualify for funding this year. The figure was needed in three days, he said.

French's comments came prior to council action to earmark $1,500 for the center if other communities served by it also contribute.

Last month, the center had asked for a $2,500 contribution.

Mrs. Barbara Williams, director of the center, said after the meeting that $7,000 in local funds were needed to acquire the federal funding needed. The center's budget had previously been reported at $21,000.

In other areas, the council approved a request from Kathy Davis of the village J-Teens group to allow the J-Teens to paint 120 fire hydrants in the village with bicentennial designs. The council agreed to provide the materials for the work.

Camp's Public Dinner July 20

BLOOMINGDALE — Van Buren Youth camp will hold its annual public dinner at the camp near here on July 20. Tickets for the dinner, featuring barbecue chicken and ham plus all the trimmings, will be available at the door.

Twin Cities Credit union, if they wished, following a report on the program.

Referred to committees for study and action were bids for a new tractor lawnmower and curbing and gutter work on various village streets. Apparent low bid for the lawnmower was $1,576. Apparent low bid on the curb and gutter work was $47,342 from John G. Yerington company.

Atty. Donald Dick, the village's attorney, reported that the Berrien Historical association had purchased the old sheriff's house for $17,225 and that the association planned on making the building available for use by senior citizens this fall.

The cost of regrading the road is expected to be shared equally with the city of Bridgman, according to Shuler. Rambo road forms part of the southern boundary of the city limits.

In other areas, the board agreed to pay legal fees totaling $4,550 to John H. Spelman, township attorney, for his legal services stemming from the city of Bridgman's attempts to annex the $800 million Cook nuclear plant and other township area. The annexation, which involves 90 per cent of the township's assessed valuation, is still pending before the state boundary commission.

Clerk Elsie Reek was instructed to contact the Berrien county road commission regarding the installation of a traffic light at Brownstown road and Red Arrow highway. Board action came after state officials said the matter should be handled on the county level.

The board tentatively agreed to donate $1,000 to the Baroda-Lake township police department fund for its operations.

A request by Bridgman Realtor Ben Baldwin for a donation to a senior citizen's center in Harbert was denied. It was reported that it was against state law for public monies to be used for private organizations.

Baldwin had requested a combined donation of $2,200 from the township and the city to operate the center.

South Haven Reverses Position Council To Permit Broadcasts

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — The controversial question of granting permission to South Haven radio station WJOR to broadcast meetings of the city council apparently ended last night as council reversed a previous action not to approve broadcasts.

Council in May denied a request of the station to either broadcast live or on a tape-delayed basis its proceedings. Two subsequent attempts to have council reconsider its decision died when a motion by second ward Alderman Rex Lineberry did not receive a second. The station then announced it would broadcast the meetings anyway and put the June 18 session on the air without objection from the council.

Lineberry re-introduced the motion to grant permission last night and received a second from Mayor Elizabeth Davis who defended her action by noting that the city charter grants her the same privileges as all other councilmen.

Motion to allow broadcasts passed 4-3 with previously opposed aldermen Matthew Goerg and Wilbur Ingham joining Mayor Davis and Lineberry in the majority. Opposed were Robert Warren, Norvan Books and William McDonald.

Warren was most outspoken against the broadcasts, contending that the radio station was commercializing the broadcasts by selling advertising. The meetings are sponsored by a South Haven bank.

"You are using the taxpayers to enhance WJOR," Warren charged. He also accused the station of attempting to embarrass the council.

Goerg, who is a candidate for mayor, also accused the station of "putting us in a bad light." He indicated he planned to allow the station to continue broadcasting council meetings without permission "but I don't like to have my hand forced."

A petition signed by 456 persons supporting the broadcasts was presented to the council.

Warren, who is also a candidate for re-election as a third ward alderman, later accused Goerg of "politicizing." He asked that his negative vote be changed "because I want to politic with everyone else."

In other areas, council by a 5-2 vote accepted the low bid of All-Waste Disposal, Inc. of Benton Harbor to provide the garbage collection service for the next two years. The firm will provide the service for $37,000 a year. In favor were Mayor Davis and aldermen Goerg, Books, McDonald and Lineberry. Opposed were Warren and Ingham.

An attempt to award the contract to the second lowest bidder, Newell Sanitation of Covert, at $38,495 per year was defeated 4-3. In favor of giving the contract to Newell were Ingham, Warren and Books. Opposed were Goerg, McDonald, Lineberry and Mayor Davis.

Council received a petition signed by 20 South Haven township residents opposed to an attempt by the city to annex property on which they live into the city. Property on city's southwest side is entirely surrounded by the city.

Council received another petition signed by 58 property owners opposed to the construction of multi-dwelling structures on property at Cherry and Jones streets.

One building is already under construction by West Michigan Home Builders of South Haven with plans for at least one more. The petition contends that the buildings will lower property value in the area which is mostly single family dwellings.

Council formally approved allocating $20,000 as its share of improving a 900-foot-long section of runway at South Haven airport. The money will be matched by the Michigan Aeronautics commission.

Council set Aug. 4 for a public hearing to consider vacating the

Psychologist Denies Story

LONDON (AP) — A U.S. Navy psychologist says a report that he told the London Sunday Times the Navy trains assassins to be stationed in U.S. embassies "is totally and blatantly false and absurd."

Lt. Cmdr. Thomas Narut, a psychologist at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Naples, Italy, was summoned to London on Monday to discuss the report with Adm. Thomas Engen, the chief of staff for the Navy in Europe.

most westerly portion of Superior street to St. Basil church.

In 1969, the council agreed to vacate property which overlooks Lake Michigan to the church in turn for permission to construct a million-gallon water storage tank on property owned by the church. Legal steps were never taken to vacate property.

Property in question is not used as a street.

Council tabled request from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Withey of South Haven that they be granted a license to operate one cab.

City Manager Albert Pierce reviewed progress of management objectives established for him and his staff by city council last October. He noted that most of the objectives have been accomplished.

Council agreed to meet in executive session July 21 to discuss legal problems pertaining to Water street. The street, which runs along the Black river, is scheduled for major improvement as part of a bicentennial project. However, city Atty. William Verdonk has noted that the city does not have clear title to the roadbed.

Richard Bondy, 223 North Shore drive, appeared to protest alleged inequality in assessing fees at the city's new Black river park. He contended that boaters are charged to launch their vessels, but tennis players do not have to pay to use the new courts.

Bainbridge Weighs Library Membership

Bainbridge township board last night tabled action on a request to join a proposed Watervliet library district.

The request was tabled after representatives from two libraries also serving township residents informed the board that township residents would no longer be able to use their facilities if they joined the Watervliet district library.

Paul Jones, president of the Watervliet library board, requested that township officials join the new library district and name two representatives.

According to Jones, the reorganization is being pushed by the state library board. It would give the present operation a formal board and an established district to serve.

At present, the board is comprised of 10 members, with Bainbridge township having only one member on the board.

Carolyn Sittler, director of the Benton Harbor library, and Mrs. Rita Tibbs, Coloma librarian, told board members that if the township joins the Watervliet library district, they would no longer provide library services to township residents. Both were concerned over the how the state penal fines would be distributed.

Township Supervisor Leonard Smith Jr. said he would check with the state library board to see if the situation could be cleared up without changing services.

The township presently divides revenue from a three-cent mill of a mill property tax among the three libraries and Eau Claire, thus permitting township residents to use all four libraries.

Revenue from a fifth of a mill is distributed to Benton Harbor, Coloma and Eau Claire libraries while the rest goes to the Watervliet library.

In another area, the board voted to accept the immediate resignation of Suzanne Long as caretaker of the township's 8 cemeteries and township hall grounds.

Miss Long resigned her summer job after voicing displeasure over a contract drawn up by the board which would disallow her unemployment compensation.

She told board members that she did not wish to have a written contract of any type and preferred a verbal contract similar to one she has had with the board during the past four years.

Township Votes Football Funds

THREE OAKS — A proposed football program for youngsters 8 to 11 years old was voted $100 last night by the Three Oaks township board.

The rocket football league is to provide an organized football program for area youngsters, according to Rick Wooley and David Grosse, league representatives who asked the board for the money last night.

In other areas, the board received a reply to its letter to State Rep. Harry Gast, Jr., complaining about a proposal to tighten regulations for ambulance services.

Gast said in his letter that he would do everything he could to make the state regulations less stringent. The board had sent letters last month to Gast, State Sen. Charles Zollar, and State Rep. Ray Mittan.

Clerk Mrs. Marjorie Drier was authorized to purchase a flag from the Three Oaks American Legion for use at Forest Lawn cemetery just north of Three Oaks.

Supervisor Alfred Hellenga said he had responded to a Michigan Township association survey about the age of buildings by saying the township hall was 108 years old and still in use.

Bids on insurance for the Three Oaks township library were tabled for further discussion, pending some changes in the coverage desired.

Hellenga told the board that he had sent letters to township property owners regarding compliance with the township's junk control ordinance. The ordinance requires property to be cleared of junk.

Covert Accepts Grant For Sewer System Study

COVERT — Covert township board last night passed a resolution accepting a federal-state grant for a feasibility study of a sewer system for part of Covert township.

The study would cost approximately $40,000, according to the township's engineering firm, Williams and Works of Grand Rapids. The township would have to provide for 20 percent of the study's total cost, or about $12,000. However, the township would be allowed to deduct $5,000 paid to the firm for a preliminary study made last year.

The feasibility study for construction of a sewer system would be done only in a one-mile square area that surrounds and includes the business district of Covert, and would not include the entire township.

Township officials have said construction of a sewer system to serve the township's most populous area, right around Covert, would cost an estimated $1.5 million.

The grant for the study would come from the Environmental Protection agency, through the state's department of natural resources water resources commission.

If the study determines that a public sewage disposal system here, is feasible, township electors would decide the fate of construction of the system at the polls.

Voting to accept the grant were Jerry Sarno, supervisor; Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum, treasurer; and trustees Mrs. Viola Logan and Fred Williams. Voting against acceptance was P.B. Hoffacker, clerk.

In other areas, the board adopted a bicycle ordinance for the township, as recommended by township Atty. Sheldon Rupert of Paw Paw. The ordinance will require that all bikes be registered and licensed.

Mrs. Stuckum announced a joint meeting of the township planning commission and zoning appeals board will be held at the township hall, Tuesday, July 15, at 7:30 p.m. to discuss various responsibilities of the two groups.

Refuse Container Sites Eyed

COLOMA — Coloma township board last night named Trustee John McCrery and township resident William Kennedy to investigate locations for refuse containers in the township.

Supervisor A. G. Blevins said the need to place rubbish containers in the township was necessary so that summer residents would have a place to dump their refuse, especially those residents not using commercial refuse pick-up services.

In other areas, the board approved selling a 1973 squad car to Treasurer Robert Palmer for $900. His bid was the only bid received for the old squad car.

Blevins, following the meeting, announced that he will be at the township hall to conduct township business Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

PIPELINE COMPLETED TOKYO (AP) — A 221-mile oil pipeline has been completed from the North China port of Chongming to Peking, the official Hsinhua news agency reported today.

U.S. Data Confirms Big Soviet Buildup

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence has received reports that about 3,000 Soviet specialists are manning a growing Russian military complex in strategically located Somalia. The gist of these reports became available after Sen. Denny F. Bartlett, R-Okla., and Pentagon technicians returned from Somalia over the weekend. Bartlett said he had seen a Russian missile-handling facility and other evidence of a Soviet military presence there. The Somalis and the Soviets repeatedly have denied that the port of Berbera is being used as a support base for Soviet warships cruising Indian Ocean waters leading to the oil-producing Persian Gulf. According to recent U.S. intelligence reports, most Russian military men in Somalia are housed in two or three compounds closed to other nationalities, including Somalis. At least one Soviet admiral is said to have been seen on shore and he is believed to be in command there.

BERBERA, SOMALIA

Russian activity is said to have spread out from Berbera, where U.S. intelligence first reported the Soviets building naval support installations well over a year ago. One of the newest reported developments is construction of an underground complex reinforced with thousands of tons of concrete and steel about eight miles southwest of Berbera. U.S. analysts do not yet know its purpose. The Russians are said to be enlarging a fuel storage tank farm near Berbera. Meanwhile, a major new Soviet airfield 2 1/2 miles west of Berbera may be ready by the end of the year, an intelligence report says. In addition, sources believe a Soviet communications station already completed about 50 miles north of Mogadishu, the Somali capital, will serve the Russian naval force in the Indian Ocean. That Soviet force generally has averaged about 10 to 15 ships. But U.S. intelligence specialists believe the development of missile-handling, refueling and other facilities in Somalia foreshadows an increase in Soviet fleet operations in the Indian Ocean now that the Suez Canal has been reopened. An acceleration of Russian construction work and naval activity in Somalia became noticeable after the Soviet Union and Somalia signed a treaty last summer. The Somalis have received shipments of Soviet arms, according to U.S. intelligence sources who report that the presence of Russian T-54 tanks was confirmed recently at a Somali army base. Apart from military aid, the Russians have flown some of their transport planes to Somalia to help move refugees from drought-parched areas.

Pearson Wins $2.4 Million Job

The water was hazardous. The commission voted to release $5,000 it had set aside for the Benton Harbor-Benton township senior citizens center, 53 Wall street, after Betty Smith, center director, said the funds were necessary immediately to obtain federal funds from another source. Mrs. Smith also received $200 worth of donations for the senior citizens center last night. A $100 donation was made by Willie Sisson, owner of Smoke's lounge, and another $100 was given by Morris and Ann Greer, owners of Rosie's party store. Mrs. Smith said the center was seeking private donations to keep the center operating. Thomasina Jeters, Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) representative from Detroit, formally presented the commission word of approval of the city's Community Development grant and read letters of congratulations from President Ford and the HUD regional office. A request by the city police department to discontinue collecting fees at the city boat launch, Riverview drive, during weekdays was denied by the commission. The police requested that the attendant, funded through Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds, be used in the police department instead. In other action, the commission: Voted to hire Atty. Wilbur Schilling, 920 State street, St. Joseph, as assistant city attorney for prosecution purposes on an as-needed basis. Directed a request be made to the director of the Twin Cities Dial-A-Ride transportation system to provide voters free transportation to polls for the primary election Aug. 5. Sent to committee a request by Charles Pearce, 331 Columbus avenue, to operate a recreation center at 152 East Main street. Granted a 90 day extension before beginning condemnation proceedings to a house at 735 East Main which is owned by Jack M. Coburn, 1035 North Euclid.

Chrysler Blamed For Layoffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Auto Workers, seeking federal aid for 38,000 workers, told the government Monday that layoffs at Chrysler Corp. were caused by the company's imports from Canada, not the recession. But Chrysler officials denied the contention, made at a Labor Department hearing to determine whether the autoworkers are eligible for relief under a provision of the Foreign Trade Act of 1974. The act provides that workers unemployed because of increased imports may petition the labor secretary for special benefits which, when added to state unemployment compensation, equal 70 per cent of a worker's former wage. The benefits may be drawn for up to a year. Deputy Undersecretary of Labor Joel Segall, who presided at the hearing, said a decision will be reached before Aug. 2 on claims the UAW has submitted under the act. Douglas Fraser, UAW vice president, told Segall that Chrysler's decision to shift much of its car-building work to Canadian plants resulted in severe layoffs at 10 of the firm's U.S. plants.

Auto Stockpiles Reduced

DETROIT (AP) — Continued improvement in sales cut the auto industry's stock of unsold new cars at the start of July to an average 65-day supply, the lowest of the year. According to industry estimates, the four major auto companies had 1,596,000 unsold cars as of July 1. The supply is down from 68 days at the start of June and a record 110 days in mid-January, when the current sales slump hit bottom. A 60-to-70-day supply is considered normal. The days supply is computed by dividing total stocks by the daily selling rate, which in June was just under 25,000 — the highest tempo in 11 months. At the end of May, there were a total of 1,585,000 unsold new cars on hand — fewer than at the end of June — but the daily selling rate was 23,184. General Motors' supply fell to 55 days, down from 63 at the end of May. American Motors' also was 55, down from 62. Chrysler's supply fell to 65 days, from 72. Ford Motor Company's supply rose, however, to 88 days, compared with 78 a month ago.

South Havenite Hurt In Alaska Crash

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven woman vacationing with her husband in Alaska was injured Saturday in a train wreck near Mount McKinley there. Mrs. Harold P. (Lola) Gaston, 62, of South Haven street, was released from Providence hospital in Anchorage, Alaska last night after undergoing treatment from broken ribs, scrapes and according to her son, Paul Gaston of Grand Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. Gaston were among 60 passengers on an excursion train that had stopped to allow a look at Mount McKinley when it was struck in the rear by a freight train. Mrs. Gaston was removed from the crash scene and taken to Anchorage by helicopter. Gaston, a retired agricultural authority who worked for Michigan State was not injured. Another couple with the Gastons, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Foster of Los Angeles, were not injured. The Gastons were on their way to visit a son, Major Richard F. Gaston who is an Air Force physician assigned to Anchorage. Mrs. Gaston was released from the hospital to his care. The Gastons had planned to remain in Alaska another two or three weeks. They may alter the plans, however, because of the accident, according to Paul Gaston.

Gun Dealer Reduction On Way?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration may try to sharply reduce the number of gun dealers in the United States through gun control legislation being prepared for Congress, an administration source says. "The proposal is to make the license fee for dealers high enough so many would find it prohibitive to deal in guns, especially the fly-by-nights who sell Saturday night specials," the source said. The source said there are about 150,000 gun dealers in the United States and it is hoped the proposal will cut that number to about 40,000. Many dealers are now licensed by states, but the Ford administration proposal would require all to have federal licenses.

Manson Lays Blame On Nixon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Convicted murderer Charles Manson has been writing letters to still-loyal followers blaming his fate, and the world's, on former President Richard M. Nixon. "He wrote to us and said he was mad at Nixon and we should explain why," said Manson follower Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme in a telephone interview from her home in Sacramento, Calif. "The Manson family has been locked up for five years for Nixon's conspiracy," said Miss Fromme. "The whole country was and still is dying in Nixon's thoughts. He walks loose after he dealt (sic) people's blood, lied and ruined the economy and sold the United States out."

Mental Bills Near Passage

guilty by reason of insanity." Under the state Supreme Court decision which prompted the legislation, such people may be detained for examination and observation for up to 90 days. If a probate court hearing at that time does not establish legal insanity, the person must be released. The second bill provides a definition of mental illness, now lacking in the new mental health code. Mental illness would be a disorder of thought or mood which impairs a person's ability to recognize reality or cope with everyday life. A person could be committed against his will if he was dangerous to himself or others, incapable of meeting his basic needs or if his mental illness "can reasonably be expected ... to result in significant physical harm to himself or others." The instances under which a person can be committed against his will were toned down after civil libertarians argued the House-passed version was flagrantly unconstitutional. It permitted commitment if the person could not realize his own need for treatment. Opponents also argued the bill containing the new plea was not needed. The new verdict, they argued, could confuse a jury. "It's not too hard to confuse a jury," said Sen. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, during discussion on the bill last week. "This really won't solve the problem — it overreacts to the problem." But the mood of the legislature was expressed by Sen. Richard Allen, R-Alma, who supported the new verdict: "Insanity may entitle you to different treatment, but it does not make you not guilty for that crime." In other action Monday night, the Senate: Passed, 30-0, and returned to the House a bill to provide partial payment to doctors employed by the Department of Mental Health for medical malpractice insurance. The measure is intended to help such employees meet the burden of increasing lawsuits. Passed, 32-0, and sent to Gov. William Milliken, a bill to permit school districts to maintain a single debt retirement fund for all bond issues of similar nature. Currently, school districts must maintain separate debt retirement funds, which some argued hinders investment capabilities. Passed, 27-2, and sent to the governor a bill which permits those 60 years old and older to qualify for absentee ballots.

BH Tavern Owner On Witness Stand

Mrs. Walker three $1,000 insurance policies with triple indemnity clauses, and that Langford was named beneficiary. "I didn't like Terry (Langford) being beneficiary," Wilburn stated, and noted he wanted the beneficiary to be Mrs. Walker's children or a relative. Wilburn said that on Feb. 17 he checked the Walker account, and noted payments were one week in arrears. But, he said, after Mrs. Walker's death, the account was marked as three weeks having been paid in advance. He could not say when he found the discrepancy, or how the change was made. Wilburn additionally testified that he had observed Langford with Cross while Cross was on his route making premium pickups, and objected to Langford being with Cross at such times. Wilburn, under questioning from Defense Atty. Alphonse Lewis, said he and Cross wrote more than $1 million worth of insurance during the 10 months Cross worked for him, and said Cross' income for the 10-month period was "between $10,000 and $12,000," and he added Cross was earning commissions "up to $350 a week." "Wasn't he (Cross) one of your best producers?" asked Lewis. "Yes," responded Wilburn. Questioned by McDowell, Wilburn testified that he saw Cross and Langford together in Cross' car on the evening of Feb. 11, and, while working at the office that night, heard a knock on the door, and was confronted by Langford, who was carrying a sawed-off shotgun. He said that occurred one hour after he saw Cross and Langford together. He said Langford ordered him to empty his pockets, but he bolted from the office and saw Cross' car in the parking lot of the office, off M-139 in Benton township. He said he returned when Langford told him it was a joke. But Wilburn described the shotgun as being similar to one described earlier in the trial, when another prosecution witness testified he loaned a pistol to Cross and sold him a sawed-off shotgun for $10. Wilburn said when he mentioned the incident of Langford confronting him with a shotgun, Cross told him the shotgun did not have a firing pin.

Requests Approved By Hagar

Hagar township board last night approved two applications for industrial facility exemption certificates under a new state law which allows industrial firms tax incentives for expansion or rehabilitation. The exemption certificates were approved for Kelm Manufacturing and Heald Inc. If approved by the Michigan Tax Commission and the state office of economic expansion, Kelm Manufacturing will have no increase in its tax rate on its new $195,140 facility and property for the next 12 years and Heald Inc., will pay one-half the normal tax rate for the next 12 years on the amount of improvements made at their facility. Heald's improvements amounted to $78,857. According to Chuck Schrenk, director of Berrien county economic development, the new legislation is designed to provide tax incentives to industry in an effort to create more jobs, through rehabilitation or expansion of facilities. The township board held a public hearing on each firm's request last night for designation of an industrial development district as Heald Inc., requested and as a plant rehabilitation district as Kelm Manufacturing requested. Schrenk said Kelm Manufacturing was allowed to request a designation under the rehabilitation district, since its old plant could be considered obsolete. The township board then in regular session approved both designations. Since both firms had filed an application with the township requesting industrial facility exemptions and no objections were voiced by the county or school systems involved in the tax bases of both firms, the township then approved both applications. If the applications are approved at the state level, the new tax rate incentives for both firms will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1976, according to Schrenk. Under the new piece of legislation, Schrenk said three industrial firms in the county have been completely approved for tax exemption certificates, at both the local and state level. They are: Independent Steel Casting company, New Buffalo; Modar Inc., and Consumers Asphalt and Concrete company, both of Benton township. He said approximately 22 other applications are being sought throughout the county. In other areas, the board learned from Trustee John Bergstedt that specifications for a new fire pumper have been prepared and bids will be sought later this year. The township board reviewed procedures for changing the present zoning board to a planning commission, after approving the change at its June 9 meeting. Supervisor Edward Broderick said plans call for retaining the present five member board as the planning commission until a later date when additional members may be added.

Gast Plant In Bridgman Now A Certainty!

BRIDGMAN — Gast Manufacturing company today said it would go ahead with plans for a $1.5 million plant here as the result of city commission action last night.

The commission approved designating the area where the new building is to be located as an industrial development district and a state permitted property tax exemption for the new facility.

In a statement issued this morning, Warren Gast, president and general manager of the firm, said that the plant "would be constructed" in view of the commission's approval of the two issues last night and others previously.

The new plant is to be located on a 13.8 acre site off Red Arrow highway and will manufacture the reciprocating pumps now being manufactured in a facility leased by the firm on Empire avenue in Benton township.

Immediate plans, according to the firm's statement, call for a 50,000 square foot of factory space with a 4,000 square foot office area. Longer range plans at the Bridgman site provides for an additional 110,000 square feet of manufacturing space to be constructed if required.

The Bridgman plant will employ about 30 at first and will assemble the Gast piston and diaphragm pump line, the fastest growing segment of the Gast product line, the firm's statement said.

By early 1977, it is expected that the new facility will both machine and assemble the reciprocating pumps and employ about 80 people. Ultimately, the plant will employ about 300 people when expansion is completed.

In the statement, Gast said "We moved to our present plant 2 on Empire avenue because we were becoming crowded at our main facility. We leased that building knowing the construction of a new facility would be necessary in the meantime. Also we went to a second facility because reciprocating pumps are not totally compatible in assembly and handling with our rotary pumps built at the main plant."

Gast added "A combination of circumstances led us to Bridgman. We wanted a site easy to get to, yet far enough that the facility would become self-sufficient; the taxes are low, Bridgman is a growing residential area; we presently employ about 20 people from that area; and it's a chance to return part of the operation to the area where the company started."

The firm's statement continued, "The Gast Manufacturing corporation offices and main manufacturing facilities will remain at its present location on M-139 in Benton township. The current employment level of 330 is expected to ultimately grow to over 400 employees at the Benton township location."

Commission action last night culminated efforts begun in May to provide the firm with the tax exemption, a required zoning change, and approval of a $2 million industrial bond issue to help in financing construction.

Approval of the bond sale came last month after expiration of a 45-day waiting period in which no city resident objected to the bond sale.

Under state law permitting the sale of the bonds, the firm would be totally responsible for repaying the bonds, if eventually sold.

The firm would benefit through a lower rate of interest on the debt that might be obtained through private lending sources.

The tax exemption, which would allow the firm to pay 50 per cent of property taxes it would normally pay over a 12-year period, represents all but a small portion of exemptions the city may grant without seeking formal approval of the Bridgman school district and Berrien county board of commissioners.

The company's request equals 4.92 per cent of the city's state equalized valuation. The limit is five per cent. The state equalized value represents about 50 per cent of what is considered market value.

Gast has proposed to build a 200 by 250 building on a 13.8-acre site off Red Arrow highway, if certain requests such as the exemption were granted. Initially 80 people would be employed with 20 to come from existing Gast plants and 40 from the Bridgman area.

Action on the exemption request came after the commission voted to create an industrial development district for the proposed Gast building site. The creation of the development district was required before the tax exemption application could be granted.

Both measures passed by a 6 to 0 vote with Commissioner Vernon Stanard absent. The tax exemption issue now goes to the state for final approval.

Last month, action by the commission was delayed on the two proposals as a result of two tie votes.

In other areas, the commission agreed to advertise for a full-time city manager.

After the meeting, Mayor Ronald Gelesko said that the city has grown large enough to warrant a full-time manager in the city hall. If hired, the manager would help coordinate the functions of the city's seven major departments, according to the mayor.

The commission granted pay raises effective July 6 and a pension plan retroactive to Jan. 1 for city employees.

Granted pay boosts (with old rates in parentheses) were: Phyllis Weber, clerk, $3.75 an hour ($3.35); Michael Podde, police chief, $220 a week ($200); Henry Witt, street supervisor, $4.75 ($4.25); an hour and Robert Anderson, water superintendent, $287.50 a week ($275). The deputy clerk was given a raise from $2.50 to $2.75 an hour and two water plant employees were increased 50 cents to $4.50 an hour.

The commission accepted the low bid of $8,700 from the Liskey Insurance agency of St. Joseph for city insurance coverage and the low bid of $3,152 from Don Leitow Chevrolet of Bridgman for a 1975 half-ton pickup truck for the water department.

River Valley Bond Vote Set Sept. 6

THREE OAKS — Sept. 6 was officially set by the River Valley school board last night as the date for school district voters to decide on a $3,375,000 bond issue for school construction purposes.

The bond issue, if approved, would finance a new middle school to replace the district's middle schools in New Troy and Three Oaks and would finance renovation at four other district schools.

The issue would provide $2,775 for renovation at the New Troy elementary school; $100,630 for the Three Oaks elementary school, $68,905 for the Chikaming elementary school, and $111,553 for renovation at the high school at Three Oaks.

The board also asked Strouder and Barch of Detroit to serve as financial consultants for the impending bond sale on a percentage fee of $7,000.

In other areas, the board re-elected Weldon L. Burdon, president; Adrian Van Ginhoven, secretary; and George Lozmack, treasurer. Joseph Hood was elected to a first year as vice-president. Last year's vice-president, William Houseman, did not run for re-election to the board last month.

Next Monday's regular meeting was canceled because the special meeting last night took care of that business. The board will use the time next Monday night in a work session interviewing candidates to replace departing Supt. Joseph Cairni.

Cairni said that the vote at the June 30 meeting to purchase property adjacent to the high school was 4-2, not 3-2 as reported by this newspaper July 1. This newspaper reported Burdon as not voting when he voted for the purchase, Cairni said.

KING AND QUEEN: Bill Adams, 18, and Karen Carmichael, 15, both of Hartford, were selected by judges to reign as king and queen of 1975 Van Buren county Youth fair in competition last night at Lawrence high school auditorium. Adams is son of Mr. and Mrs. William Adams and Miss Carmichael is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carmichael. Fair will run Monday through Saturday, July 21-26. Adams is member of the Geneva Wrens 4-H club and Miss Carmichael is member of the Hartford 4-H Clovers.

Buchanan Township Gets Lake Petitions

BUCHANAN — Buchanan township board last night accepted petitions signed by 77 Clear lake residents asking for permission to establish a control board under state laws governing inland lakes.

According to Ivan Price, township supervisor, the control board composed of lake residents, a township board member and county health department representative, would make a feasibility study for a project aimed at controlling weeds in the lake.

Acceptance of the petitions, Price said, cleared the way for creation of the board.

In other areas, the board heard complaints from several residents of East River road concerning overnight campers at the Fred Hankins property, located along the St. Joseph river. Supervisor Ivan Price said there is little the board could do, as long as the campers were on Hankins property, but that he would have a talk with Hankins on the matter.

The board also heard complaints from residents living in the area of Red Bud Recreation Inc., where motorcycle races are held, concerning noise and dust created by the races during the day and night. Price said he would talk with the owners of the race track to see what solutions could be worked out.

The board tabled action on replying to a notice of intervention from Buchanan city in the suit of the township versus the state boundary commission until July 23.

The township suit seeks to block boundary commission approval of a city request to annex a portion of the township just east of the city for a bypass from River street to the Niles-Buchanan road.

Miss Barbara Price, daughter of the supervisor, announced that the Red Cross bloodmobile would be at the township hall Thursday, July 24, from noon to 6 p.m. seeking blood donations. Miss Price is a coordinator for the program.

Police Arrest 10 In Burglary Probe

The Berrien Metro crime unit reported Monday that an investigation of an alleged burglary ring has resulted in arrests of 10 people.

Officers reported the arrests were from June 18 to July 2, and about six more arrests are expected. Police said several thousand dollars worth of allegedly stolen property was seized in the investigation of burglaries mostly in Benton township and Sodus township.

Six of those arrested are juveniles who were petitioned to juvenile court.

Adults arrested and charges:

Robert Hall, 20, Box 338 Britain avenue, on charges of breaking and entering and felonious larceny; Terry Stockton, 17, Box 480 M Blue Creek road, and James Sliker, 17, Box 474 E Hillandale road, both on charges of breaking and entering; and Robert Kurland, 21, Meadowbrook road, on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property. All four are from Benton township.

Police reported the six juveniles were petitioned to juvenile court.

Dowagiac To Borrow Construction Funds

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac city council last night approved borrowing $25,000 for construction of an addition to the city's fire station to house the city's two ambulances.

The money will be borrowed from the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan at a simple interest rate of 5.5 per cent annually, based on a repayment schedule of seven years, according to Henry Graper Jr., city manager. Graper said the funds to repay the loan would come from the general fund.

Peterson Building Sales, St. Joseph, has previously been designated to construct the addilion at the south end of the fire station. Graper said the addition would be 1,400 square feet, with room for five vehicle stalls.

In other areas, the council approved purchase of the train depot on Depot drive for $17,500 from the Penn Central Railroad company. Graper said the railroad will have the right to use the depot's baggage department and two parking stalls until it has completed operations in the city.

The city has no definite plans for the depot building at present, except to use it as a storage area, Graper said. Graper said the $17,500 would be borrowed from the city's utility fund.

A petition requesting the installation of sanitary sewer lines on Florence street, between Sheldon street and one-half block past McMaster street, was considered by the council and ordered sent to the city's special assessment board for immediate action.

Larry Rohacs, director of the city's department of public services, estimated the cost of the sewer line extension to be $5,700, with cost to the seven property owners involved at approximately $811 each, through special assessment.

Mayor Graham Woodhouse accepted a check for $200 from the Dowagiac Jaycee auxiliary, to go toward development of the Jaycee's tot park. Funds were raised from Little Mr. and Miss Firecracker contest. Check was presented by Scott Saszak, Little Mr. Firecracker.

The council granted permission to the Disabled American Veterans to offer forget-me-not emblems in the city Aug. 7-8.

The Dowagiac Daily News was granted permission to hold its annual Kiddies Day parade on Tuesday, July 29.

Graper in a press release stated that Gary E. Bailey of Dearborn, who had accepted the position of city librarian, has informed Graper by letter that he will be unable to fulfill his commitment. Graper stated the city council would have to re-evaluate for the position.

PRINCE AND PRINCESS: Dion Founé, 13, and Pamela Boussom, 11, were crowned prince and princess of 1975 Van Buren county Youth fair last night in Lawrence. Dion is Pamela is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Boussom of Lawton. Dion is member of the Bloomingdale Busy Spiders 4-H club and Pamela is member of the Porter Busy Fingers 4-H club of Lawton. ## Coloma Schools Set Vote On 1.26 Mills

COLOMA — Coloma school board last night voted 3 to 2, to seek voter approval of a 1.26-mill property tax levy during a special election already scheduled for Aug. 11.

The district presently levies 23.777 mills for operating purposes, in addition to 3.5 mills for debt retirement. If voters approve the increase, the total millage for operating expenses would increase to 24.537 mills.

Dissenting votes were cast by Board members Richard Eastman and Marshall Batt.

Both board members said they voted against seeking the millage increase because of the bad economic conditions in the area, the high rate of unemployment and their belief that the district could operate with the present millage if "they tighten their belt."

Board members voting for placing the millage on the ballot were Mrs. Marian Priebe, Dr. James Galles, Board President Kay Erickson.

The school board was informed by William Barrett, school superintendent, during its June 9 meeting that in order to maintain present levels of school programs the district must seek a property tax increase.

In other areas, by a 4 to 1 vote, the school board approved a request by the Coloma Comet Boosters club to hold bingo games in the Coloma high school cafeteria, if its state bingo license is approved. Casting the sole no vote was Erickson. Erickson said he voted against the motion because of a moral responsibility to the community.

"People are complaining about how things are going today — and this won't help."

Ernie Wolowis, boosters club president, said the club will consider using proceeds from the bingo games for other school projects, in addition to sports equipment, at a later date.

District voters, during a June 9 straw ballot, voted 443 for and 316 against holding bingo games in the Coloma schools.

The board approved a revised set of bus rules drawn up by Ronald Clark, assistant superintendent, aimed at avoiding bus driver distraction and authorizing the administration to suspend pupils for violating any of the 23 school bus rules.

Previously 17 rules were outlined for pupils riding school buses.

The action was prompted by an incident on a Coloma school bus June 13, during which two teenage boys tossed a lighted firecracker on a bus resulting with a 15-year old girl sustaining facial burns.

During a reorganizational meeting, three of four positions on the board were retained by the present office holders.

Re-elected board president was Erickson. Others re-elected were Eastman, vice president and Louis Gelder, treasurer.

Elected board secretary was Merlin Hauch. Mrs. Priebe previously held the post but declined to serve again due to her plans to be away during several meetings later this year.

Hauch and Gelder were not present at last night's board meeting.

Four Policemen Suspended

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Playing with a marijuana plant will mean suspension without pay for four Grand Rapids policemen. Chief Robert Anderson ordered officer Edward Rose suspended two days and imposed one-day suspensions upon Thomas Nicholson, Calvin Baquet and Donald Ratliff. Authorities said Rose and Baquet confiscated a potted marijuana plant but failed to turn it in for disposal. Instead, Rose put it in Nicholson's personal car as a prank. Nicholson then moved it to Ratliff's car. Officials reported Ratliff was angered and took the plant to a tavern where off-duty officers gather in an effort to learn who was responsible for putting it in his car. Ratliff and Nicholson turned in the plant later.

Aging Panel Selects Van Buren Officers

BLOOMINGDALE — Art Freese of Banor has been elected president of the Van Buren county commission on aging for the coming year.

Other officers elected during a meeting held last week here were Naomi DePrest of Covert, vice president; Rev. Josephine Morgan of Covert, secretary; John Cassman of Paw Paw, treasurer; Frances Clawson of Lawton and Wade Dick of Lawrence, trustees.

It was announced during the meeting that the commission is sponsoring a food stamp certification program for residents over 60 years of age.

A representative from the county's social services department will be at the Covert center Wednesday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. to determine eligibility. Participants must have documented proof of monthly income and expenses and a social security number.

A similar program was being held in the commission's Paw Paw center, 243 East Michigan avenue, until 4:30 p.m. today.

Walker Outduels Kaat As Tigers Shade Sox

Detroit Runs Streak To Six Straight

DETROIT (AP) — Give Carolyn Walker much of the credit for her husband Tom's victory Monday night over All-Star selectee Jim Kaat.

Detroit Tiger Walker was bombed his last time out and afterwards got a little slap on the wrist from his wife.

He vowed to change his ways — and he did.

Walker outdueling Kaat in a classic pitcher's battle as the Tigers nipped the Chicago White Sox 2-1 to run their winning streak to a season high six games.

The game was similar to a 20 loss by Kaat in May to Vern Riffe in a one hour and 45 minute quickie. This time it took just 1:38 to play and Kaat took for only the fifth time against 13 victories.

Walker, who gave up six runs in just 1 1-3 innings against Baltimore last Wednesday, scattered eight hits to win his third game against six losses. It was his first complete game in seven starts, snapping his three-game losing string.

"After that last game I went home and my wife talked to me about the way I pitched," Walker explained. "You know, my wife's my best friend. She told me, 'What's the matter with you. You had no confidence. You were beating yourself.'"

"I didn't know what to say. I was beaten, disappointed. She was completely right. I decided the next time to walk out there confident, but not cocky."

Kaat had learned just before the game that he and reliever teammate Rich Gossage had been named by Oakland Manager Al Dark to the eight-man American League pitching staff for the All-Star game.

"I was ready to pitch that game," Walker said. "I was ready to face a guy named Jim Kaat."

Tonight it'll be a pair of 12-game losers, opposing each other. Joe Coleman, 4-12, is scheduled to pitch against Wilbur Wood, 6-12, of the White Sox.

Kaat called the game, "a carbon copy of the last game I had here. I made a bad pitch and lost 2-0. I made one here. I knew as soon as I let it go."

The bad pitch in the fourth was a fastball that Willie Horton hit for a two-run homer. The bad pitch Monday was a slider that Leon Roberts poked for a triple in the fourth after Gary Sutherland opened with a single. Horton added an RBI sacrifice fly.

The only damage off Walker was Ken Henderson's 450-foot leadoff homer in the second inning. It landed in the upper right-centerfield bleachers.

Tiger centerfielder Ron LeFlore may have saved the game in the fifth. He ended the inning by making a hard-running catch of Brian Downing's bloop with two men on, then fired to second base to double Bill Melton.

"That was the play of the game," Detroit Manager Ralph Houk said. "He caught that ball on the dead run and how he threw to second base with accuracy I'll never know. If he overruns it the game's over."

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, OUT?: Pat Kelly (18) of the Chicago White Sox questions umpire Terry Cooney's decision after he was called out attempting to steal second base during first inning of Monday night's game against the Detroit Tigers. Shortstop Tom Veryzer (left) made the tag. Detroit won 2-1 for its sixth straight victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Big Red Machine In High Gear

Potent Pittsburgh Wins 11th Of 14 From Cubs

From Associated Press

The Big Red Machine is in high gear, rolling along so smoothly that even the man at the controls can't quite believe it.

"It's incredible," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson after his Reds' latest triumph, a 7-3 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies Monday night. That gave Cincinnati four wins in a row, seven in the last eight games and an amazing record of 35 victories in 44 outings dating back to May 21.

"No one is supposed to win like that," added Anderson. But the Reds are doing it, and as a result have opened a gaping 8½-game bulge over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West.

What turned the Reds, stumbling along at the 500 mark seven weeks ago, into the winningest team in the majors?

"You've got to go back to the move — shifting Pete Rose to third," said Anderson. "It's not just that one thing, but that set off a lot of other things that happened. Getting George Foster's bat in there has been tremendous."

Foster got his 15th homer against the Phils, a two-run shot over the center field fence in the seventh inning that broke the game open.

But the big blast of the game came in the first inning, off the bat of Tony Perez. The Reds' slugging first baseman got hold of a Steve Carlton delivery and deposited it in the upper tier of Riverfront Stadium, more than 500 feet away.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the Chicago Cubs 5-0, the New York Mets beat the Atlanta Braves 3-1, the Houston Astros defeated the Montreal Expos 5-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals outscored the San Francisco Giants 8-6.

Houston got only four hits against Montreal, but all came in the fourth inning when the Astros sent 10 men to the plate and scored all their runs. Wilbur Howard's two-run single capped the uprising in support of Larry Dierker, who scattered eight hits.

Home runs by Rusty Staub and Dave Kingman backed the six-hit pitching of rookie Hank Webb, who posted his second major league victory — both over Atlanta.

"I needed this game," said Webb. "It's my first complete game in the big leagues, and it builds my confidence. There are such good pitchers on this staff, when I do get in I like to contribute."

Ted Simmons drove in three runs and Luis Melendez' triple highlighted a four-run first inning for the Cards, who collected six hits off Giants starter Mike Caldwell, 5-8, in the opening inning.

Afterwards, Giants Manager Wes Westrum became enraged at a question put to him by a local reporter, shouted and cursed at the writer and had him ejected from the San Francisco clubhouse.

Al Oliver belted a three-run homer and Ken Brett, Ramon Hernandez and Dave Giusti combined to stop the Cubs on five hits, all singles.

It was the 14th game in 11 days between the two clubs, and the Pirates won 11 of the meetings.

Brett, 5-2, walked three and struck out two before leaving the game at the start of the eighth. Relievers Hernandez and Dave completed the shutout.

Losers Rick Reuschel, 5-10, gave up seven hits and was knocked out in the ninth when the Pirates scored four runs.

three of them on Oliver homer.

Willie Stargell scored the game's first run in the fourth inning after he coaxed Reuschel for a walk, moved to second on Dave Parker's single and to third on a force play. Manny Sanguillen then lined a single to right driving Stargell home.

The Pirates wrapped it up in the ninth when Mario Mendoza walked, moved up on Giusti's sacrifice and scored on Rennie Stennett's single. That finished Reuschel and after reliever Ken Frailing walked Richie Hebner, Oliver followed with his ninth home run of the season.

Hernandez relieved Brett at the start of the eighth but after surrendering a leadoff walk and a sacrifice, he was replaced by Giusti, who pitched out of the jam and completed the shutout.

All-Star Selection Marks Kaat's Amazing Comeback

DETROIT (AP) — Being selected to the All-Star game "is kind of a kick," Jim Kaat says.

The Chicago White Sox southpaw pitcher is particularly pleased with the news of his selection because: "In August two years ago nobody would have given me much of a chance."

Kaat is the winningest active pitcher in the American League with 228 victories, but it's only the third time he's been picked to the All-Star team. The first time was 1966 — nine years ago.

Teammate Rich Gossage, a relief specialist, also was among the eight pitchers chosen Monday by Al Dark, Oakland manager who will handle the All-Star game in next Tuesday's classic.

Kaat learned of his selection before his 2-1 loss Monday night to Tom Walker and the Detroit Tigers.

"For a lot of guys who make it just about every year it probably doesn't mean much," Kaat said. "But it means a lot to me. It looked like I was probably just about done, so that makes it a lot more satisfying."

The 36-year-old veteran of 16 major league seasons won most of his games during his 13 years with Minnesota, which traded him to the White Sox in August, 1973. He had an 11-12 record.

He was 4-1 the rest of the way for Chicago, then last year was 21-13. His record is 13-5 this year.

"I'm glad to see Goose (Gossage) make it because if he didn't pitch good I wouldn't have made it," said Kaat. "He saved seven of 'em for me, I think."

Gossage called his selection "a dream."

"First you dream of getting to the big leagues and you're so happy about that," he said. "But then that wears off. I remember watching the All-Star game at home in Colorado Springs, never imagining I might be in it."

White Sox Manager Chuck Tanner called it "a great compliment that they picked him as a reliever. Now maybe the people who keep saying he should be a starter will realize how good a reliever he is."

It looks like designated hitter Willie Horton is the only possibility now to be named to the All-Star team for the Tigers. Pitchers Mickey Lolich and John Niekro were the only other likely candidates and since the pitching staff has already been picked that leaves them out.

Horton leads the league in runs batted in and is among the leaders in home runs. He hasn't played in the field this year and likely would be used strictly as a pinch hitter in the All-Star game.

Five Tigers received incentive bonuses Monday from General Manager Jim Campbell, based on 90 days experience in one major league season. They are Ron LeFlore, Dan Meyer, Leon Roberts, Vern Riffe and Tom Veryzer.

"I'm gonna get one of those security guards to walk with me outta here," LeFlore said with a grin.

Did Tigers Steal Signs?

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Broadcaster Tony Kubek hinted on national television Monday night that the Detroit Tigers might have stolen signs during their weekend sweep of four games from the Milwaukee Brewers in Detroit.

"We had suspicions that Detroit might be stealing signs," Kubek said after broadcasting the Milwaukee-Kansas City game Monday night. "You know, sometimes ballplayers pick up things like that around the batting cage or wherever. It's nothing new."

"We know more, but that's all we're saying."

He refused further comment. The Tigers swept a four-game series from the Brewers, including both ends of a Sunday doubleheader.

Del Crandall, the Milwaukee manager, said he knew nothing about the matter.

"I never accused anybody of anything," Crandall said. "I think there's a natural tendency in some ballparks when the opposition is getting a lot of runs ... you wonder ... and it happens."

"There's no reason to think it if you don't have some proof," Crandall added.

Dodger Trio Heads NL Pitching Corps

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mike Marshall, last year's Cy Young Award winner, and two other Dodgers have been named to the nine-man National League All-Star pitching staff to face eight American League hurlers in the July 15 All-Star Game.

Los Angeles Manager Walter Alton on Monday announced his choice of Marshall, honored last year for his consistent relief pitching efforts, along with Dodger starting pitchers Andy Messersmith and Don Sutton, 12-8, to the National League All-Stars, who have won three straight mid-season classics.

Alton, manager of the National League All-Star team, also named Tom Seaver and southpaw teammate Jon Matlack of New York, left-hander Tug McGraw of Philadelphia, lefty Randy Jones of San Diego, southpaw Jerry Reuss of Pittsburgh and Phil Niekro of Atlanta.

The four National League southpaws and five right-handers will face an American League pitching crew including Oakland, Catfish Hunter of New York, Jim Kaat and Rich Gossage of Chicago, Nolan Ryan of California, Jim Palmer of Baltimore and Steve Busby of Kansas City.

All but two of the National League choices are repeaters on the All-Star squad. The exceptions are southpaws Jones and Reuss. Seaver's selection marks his eighth return to the squad.

Of the American League All-Star choices for the midseason classic at Milwaukee's County Stadium, Fingers, Hunter and Busby are repeaters from last year.

Seaver had the best winning percentage among the NL pitchers with a 12-4 record and an ERA of 1.85. Messersmith was 12-5 with a 2.08 average and Jones showed an 11-4 record and a stingy 1.77 ERA.

Messersmith leads the league in strikeouts with 122, followed by Seaver's 120 and Sutton's 118. Marshall, who has a 3-5 record with four saves, and McGraw, 5-1 with eight saves, are the only two relief specialists representing the NL.

Reuss' record is 3-6 and Niekro's record is 8-7.

Ruffian Laid To Rest In Silence Of Belmont Park

NEW YORK (AP) — Ruffian, the fabulous filly whose life was filled with the sounds of cheering and victory, has been laid to rest in the quiet of darkness.

Ruffian was buried at Belmont Park Monday night before a small, subdued gathering that included her trainer, Frank Whiteley, and her last rider, Jacinto Vasquez.

"Frank Whiteley requested that we make it as private as possible and we think that is only right," said New York Racing Association Board Chairman Jack Dreyfus Jr.

Only a few friends of racing came to watch Ruffian's private burial at Belmont, the site of her final, abortive race. The digging, done by an automatic crane, began at sundown and ended 90 minutes later in the dead of night as Ruffian was lowered into the ground on Belmont's infield.

The burial party dropped a bouquet of roses into the grave, the final resting place for the filly said by many to be the best ever to grace a racing program.

The quiet of Belmont Park Monday night provided a stark contrast to the festive atmosphere only 27 hours earlier, when Ruffian shouldered Vasquez and the hopes of millions of females against the colt Foolish Pleasure.

A nationwide television audience — millions of people — saw Ruffian break down a half-mile into the $350,000 match race, a victim of a shattered right ankle, as Foolish Pleasure raced on to a less-tragic finish line. Barely a score saw her buried.

Ruffian underwent an operation late Sunday night but in the end, this magnificent competitor, who was too much horse for every filly she ever raced, proved too much horse for herself.

Upon awakening from the anesthesia, she lashed out and smashed her cast, causing severe damage to the injured leg. "The cast had become an entangled mess and there was intensive swelling and hemorrhaging," said Dr. Alex Harthill, part of the veterinarian team that worked feverishly to save Ruffian.

It was then that Ruffian, who was always favored to win on the track, became a longshot to live. "If we were to put her through anesthesia and another operation, it would only be worse the next time," Harthill said.

Stuart Janney Jr., Ruffian's owner, decided on the course of action. "Don't let her suffer any more," he said.

The broken ankle injured Ruffian but her fierce, competitive spirit killed her.

"She didn't accept confinement," said Dr. Harthill. "She fought with vengeance, like a tiger."

If Ruffian had not been such a splendid race horse, she may have been put to sleep immediately after the injury. But extensive efforts were made to save the 3-year-old filly, victorious in all 10 races before Sunday, because of the hope she could transmit some of her greatness to her offspring.

"Many horses with injuries as serious as Ruffian's have been saved for breeding purposes," said trainer Elliott Burch.

Lions Seek Player In Return Jessie Signs Ram Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wide receiver Ron Jessie, who played out his option with the Detroit Lions last season, signed a multi-year contract Monday with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Jessie caught 54 passes for 761 yards and three touchdowns with Detroit last year. He said personal differences with the Detroit management plus his family's desire to live in Southern California prompted his decision to switch NFL clubs.

Los Angeles must now deal with the Lions and the Rams General Manager Don Klosterman said.

"We have talked to Detroit about compensation and will continue to do so. We're delighted to have Ron as a member of the Rams."

Detroit Coach Rick Forzano has stressed he wants a capable player in return, not a draft choice which will not be available for at least another season.

Teams can make agreements on compensation among themselves, but if an impasse is reached, Commissioner Pete Rozelle makes the decision.

During his four years with the Lions, Jessie had 102 pass receptions for 1,536 yards and 10 touchdowns. He also returned 30 kicks for 930 yards and two touchdowns. He was the sixth leading receiver in the NFL last season.

Born in Yuma, Ariz., near the California border, he attended high school there and Imperial Valley Junior College at El Centro, Calif. His family still lives there.

He spent two years at Kansas where he caught 33 passes for 644 yards. Originally, he was drafted by Dallas in 1971 on the eighth round and then was traded to Detroit for a draft choice.

"I'm very happy to sign with the Rams," he said. "I feel sad leaving my former teammates and coaches, but my personal differences with the Detroit management coupled with my family's absolute desire to live in Southern California prompted my decision."

His representative, Robert L. Felton, added, "It was extremely gratifying that so many clubs expressed an interest in Ron Jessie. Obviously the Rozelle Rule (compensation) was no detriment to those clubs making us an offer."

The Rams have a crew of wide receivers including Harold Jackson, Lance Rentzel, Jack Snow and Willie McGee.

Forbes Eyes Ordeal's End

Jury Selection Begins In Historic Case

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) —

"It seems like being arrested and taken to court for a parking ticket," said Boston Bruins hockey player Dave Forbes.

Forbes, 26, entered a not-guilty plea to an aggravated assault charge in Hennepin County District Court Monday, then watched the rigorous process of selecting a dozen jurors to decide his fate.

"I'm just looking forward to when it'll be all over," said Forbes. "It isn't any vacation with something like this hanging over you."

The Forbes case, which is the first of its kind in professional sports, stems from a Jan. 4 incident when he allegedly butted former Minnesota North Stars player Henry Boucha in the eye with a hockey stick.

"I can't believe I'd ever have wound up in a courtroom for something that happened in a hockey game," said Forbes. "Sure I think about jail."

Forbes, who was suspended from 10 games without pay by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell following the altercation with Boucha, faces a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $5,000 fine if convicted. "All kinds of things have gone through my mind, but I've gotten a lot of support from my parents, friends and teammates, which has helped tremendously."

Forbes' defense is in the hands of widely known Minneapolis trial lawyer Ronald Meshbesher, who unsuccessfully asked for dismissal of the indictment. "If that's true, then everyone who engages in boxing is guilty of assault every time they punch the other participant."

Brewer, Red Sox Newcomers Shine

From Associated Press

MILWAUKEE's Bob Sheldon and Boston's Jim Willoughby, who were in the minors last week, made major contributions to their new teams Monday night.

Second baseman Sheldon, who committed a costly error in the fourth inning, singled home one run in the fifth and two more in the sixth, lifting the Brewers to a 4-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Meanwhile, Willoughby came on in the seventh inning of the Red Sox' 6-3 triumph over the Minnesota Twins, struck out Eric Soderholm with two runners aboard and went on to earn his first save, fanning five in 2 1/3 innings.

Sheldon's error helped Kansas City score all three runs in the fourth inning — two on a single by Cookie Rojas — for a 3-1 lead, but he made up for it with his clutch hits off Al Fitzmorris.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees defeated the Texas Rangers 5-2 to remain one game behind Boston and one percentage point ahead of Milwaukee in the East Division, the Oakland A's trimmed the Cleveland Indians 7-5 and the Detroit Tigers edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Jim Rice belted a three-run homer as the Red Sox scored four times off Jim Hughes in the first inning. Jim Burton, who relieved Rick Wise in the seventh, issued a single and walk, putting two Minnesota runners aboard and bringing up the dangerous Soderholm. Willoughby not only struck out Soderholm to end that inning, but fanned him again to end the game after the Twins scored a run in the ninth.

Home runs by Roy White,

Graig Nettles and Jim Mason and run-scoring singles by Nettles and Rich Coggins rallied the Yankees to victory after Texas nipped Doc Medich for both their runs in the first inning on Jeff Burroughs' two-run single.

Jim Perry pitched six shutout innings. Joe Rudi hit two home runs and Billy Williams hit one for Oakland. The 38-year-old Perry, who came to the A's in a trade with Cleveland earlier in the season, won his second game in three decisions with Oakland and boosted his overall record to 3-7. He allowed one run on six hits, struck out four and didn't walk a batter in 7 1/3 innings before giving way to Rollie Fingers.

US, Poland Tied In Track Meet

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — An American track and field team, rebounding from a dismal showing against the Soviet Union, was today tied with Poland after the first day of a two-day dual meet.

The American men grabbed victories in seven of 12 events for a one-point lead over the Polish team, while the American women trailed their Polish counterparts by an equally slender one point. The Polish women captured four of seven events.

The men contributed 61 of the American squad's total of 97 while the Polish women accounted for 37 of its team total.

Czechoslovakia, also engaging in simultaneous dual meets here, trailed far behind after victories in only the women's high jump and the men's hammer throw.

For the Americans, the surprise hero was unsung Davo Babiracki of Grenada Hills, Calif., who won the 10,000 meters in his first competition over that distance.

Babiracki, a 22-year-old graduate from Brigham Young University, said prior to the race, "No one knows me."

He started to change that situation by unleashing a powerful finishing kick to outrun Poland's Henry Nogala by three seconds.

Ed Preston, a sophomore at Arkansas State, led an American sweep in the 100 meter dash, stopping the clocks at 10.2. John Young of Savannah, Ga. was second in 10.3. Preston then anchored the victorious 400 meter relay team.

Old-Timers Win

St. Joe Kickers

Gary Urban scored four goals, Cornell Krieger three and Bruno Pahl two as the St. Joseph Kickers Old-Timers beat the Grand Haven Old-Timers 9-0 in an exhibition soccer game Saturday at the Kickers' Field.

The Kickers' Junior A team was less fortunate in its own tournament, getting a lone goal by Gary Usinger while losing 2-1 to Utica and 1-0 to Palatine, Ill.

Utica beat Palatine 5-0 for the tournament title with the Kickers finishing third.

Cross Standout In Swim Meet

Andrea Cross of the St. Joseph Aquatics Club was the top point winner in the girls' 11-12 age division at the Portage Park Invitational swimming meet in Chicago.

Andrea won the 50-meter freestyle in 29.7 seconds, the 100 free in 1:02.0 and the 50 butterfly in 22.1. She also won in the 200 free (2:21.6) and third in the 220 individual medley (2:45.0).

The only other Aquatics swimmer to place was Cathy Williams, who was third in the 200 breaststroke (1:23.8) and sixth in the 200 breaststroke (2:02.3) for girls 15 and over.

Hunters, Anglers May Get Break Who'll Pay Wildlife Bills?

Who should pay for wildlife habitat? Just the hunters and fishermen? Or should bird-watchers, photographers and other non-hunting outdoorsmen share the cost?

And how should wildlife money be spent? Mainly on game species that interest the sportsmen? Or should fish and wildlife agencies pay more attention to animals that have only esthetic and ecological value?

These questions have racked and divided the conservation movement since the early 1900's. With two landmark laws, the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration (Pittman-Robertson) Act of 1937 and the Federal Aid in Fisheries Restoration (Dingell-Johnson) Act of 1950, Congress put most of the financial burden on hunters and fishermen, requiring them to support state and federal wildlife programs through taxes on their firearms, ammunition and fishing gear.

But now, the National Wildlife Federation reports, two federal agencies are taking a new look at this system of taxes and expenditures. The Council of Environmental Quality, which makes policy recommendations to the President, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which administers wildlife policy for the Interior Department, are studying a proposal to tax non-hunting and non-fishing users of public wildlife lands and to spend more money protecting non-game wildlife species — animals that are not hunted or caught.

A report by the Wildlife Management Institute, a private non-profit conservation organization, points out that there has been a marked trend in recent years toward greater use of state and federal recreational lands by birdwatchers, photographers, skiers, campers and other "nonconsumptive users." More than 12 million participate in just wildlife observation and photography, according to the Interior Department.

A key recommendation in the WMI report calls for the funding of non-game fish and wildlife habitat programs with federal manufacturer's excise taxes on recreational vehicles, tents, sleeping bags, lanterns, snow skis, wild bird seed, scuba diving gear, binoculars, cameras, film and other photographic equipment.

Other suggested excise tax sources include: strip mining royalty fees, zoo admissions, non-returnable bottles, building permits, recreational stamps in the absence of hunting or fishing licenses, a surcharge on timber sales on public lands and a 51 cent check-off on federal and state income taxes.

In explaining this new funding approach, the WMI report notes "state fish and wildlife agencies are conducting nongame programs almost entirely with funds obtained from hunters and fishermen. While the Institute believes that it is appropriate to use some funds from these sources for nongame work, the states' ever-present need for greater funding for traditional programs must be acknowledged and respected. Further, all members of society, not solely hunters and anglers, are the beneficiaries of nongame programs. Hence, a broader cross-section of society must share in costs."

Ledyard Is Still Leading

William Ledyard of St. Joseph still holds a solid lead in competition for the $2,000 first prize in the trout division of the American Salmon Derby.

Ledyard's 12-pound, 4½-ounce lake trout taken in Lake Michigan off Benton Harbor-St. Joseph was unchallenged during the past week and remains the pacesetter ahead of 16-pound, 11½-ounce laker caught off the Twin Cities by Ron Kimball of LaPorte.

Howard Christians of St. Joseph picked up a $50 weekly award for a 15-pound, 8-ounce laker — second best registered during the past week.

The contest runs through August 16.

Bear Season Spread Over Two Weekends

The Lower Peninsula's bear season has been expanded to include two weekends, Sept. 19-20.

There will be 3,000 permits issued on a first-come, first-served basis for Emmet, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Charlevoix, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Kalkaska, Oscoda, Alcona, Iosco and Ogemaw counties, plus Roscommon county east of US-27.

Permit application won't be accepted before Aug. 23.

"The bear population continues to respond to the protection given it in the Lower Peninsula," says a Department of Natural Resources memorandum. "Since people and bears do not mix well, it does not seem proper to try to increase bear numbers much further."

"Field biologists in the Upper Peninsula believe the population remains healthy and abundant and recommend the same hunting rules as in 1974."

Upper Peninsula firearm season dates are Sept. 10-Oct. 31 and Nov. 15-30. There is also an Oct. 1-Nov. 14 bow and arrow season.

The 1974 bear season resulted in 627 bear kills registered with the DNR. This was a 45.8 per cent increase from the 430 registered in 1973.

By JOHN VANDEN HEED

The Van Buren quail population — like the county's pheasant count — appears to be growing with leaps and bounds.

Up until three years ago there weren't enough bobwhites in Van Buren to hold a hunting season; but the county now has Michigan's third largest population, according to the recently completed Department of Natural Resources' survey.

A record 50 quail were heard over a 20-mile Van Buren route this year. This compares to 47 a year ago and three years in the 1960s when no bobwhite whistles were heard.

Hillsdale remains as the state leader with a 56 tally, followed by St. Joseph county with 55.

Quail counts were down somewhat this year in Berrien, Cass and Allegan in the recent survey, but these counties will again be open for bobwhite hunting this fall.

Berrien, which will have a fifth consecutive season, slipped from 24 to 16, while Cass, which will stage a seventh straight hunt, dropped from 38 to 49. Allegan fell from 28 to 19 but will have a quail season for the third year in a row.

Overall, 30 counties will be included in the fall season which holds the possibility of being longer than a year ago while having liberalized bag limits.

First times counties this year are Muskegon, Ionia, Montcalm and Tuscola. The other 26 repeating with the four southwestern Michigan counties are Barry, Branch, Calhoun, Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Gratiot, Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Saginaw, St. Clair, St. Joseph, Shiawassee, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Vic Janson of the DNR's wildlife division says the overall survey shows quail numbers in the "better counties are down a little bit, but the spread is very good. There are more in the marginal counties again this year."

Janson attributes the expanded quail range to generally mild winters the past couple of years. He warns that "once we get a tough winter they are going to be cut way down."

The quail season runs from Nov. 1-20, but the state Senate has approved a bill adding 10 days to season. Under a measure sent to the House, quail could be hunted during the last 15 days of the pheasant season and 15 days afterward.

In addition, hunters could take up to five quail a day and 15 in a season. The present restriction is four and 12, respectively.

"We are definitely in favor of a more lenient season," adds Janson. "In fact, our thinking was for even a more lenient season. We wanted to go from the beginning of pheasant season and, except for the deer rifle season, run right through Dec. 31."

"Our feeling is that quail are lightly hunted and the extra pressure would cause no problem at all."

Janson notes that if hunters or a severe winter reduce bobwhite numbers below a safe level (10 whistles must be heard before a county is opened), the county concerned can quickly be closed.

Soviets Reported Eyeing Another Big Grain Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is taking steps to purchase large quantities of grain from the United States and Canada, two London newspapers report.

However, Agriculture Department officials and spokesmen for major U.S. grain firms said they were unable to confirm that large Russian purchases were in the offing.

The London Times and the Financial Times said today the Russians were trying to keep the purchases secret by negotiating through third parties for ships to carry the grain to Soviet ports.

The London Times said drought in the Soviet Union has led the Russians to book up to three million metric tons of grain from Canada and to make provisional bookings with shippers for up to seven million metric tons from the United States.

The paper said one of the third parties discussing ship charters with the Russians was Glens, identified as a Panamanian-registered firm equipped with Swiss bank guarantees working through Paris brokers.

Richard E. Bell, a deputy assistant secretary of agriculture, said U.S. government officials were aware of the reports but still were trying to confirm them.

"We are aware that the Soviets are chartering vessels for shipment of grain from North America to the Baltic Sea and Black Sea," Bell said. He noted that U.S. exporters only are required to report sales of 100,000 tons or more within 24 hours after the deal is concluded.

He said lack of rainfall is known to have affected spring wheat production in parts of the Soviet Union. By contrast, a bumper wheat crop is being forecast for the United States.

Spokesmen for two of the largest U.S. grain dealers, Cargill and Cook Industries, said they know of no such transactions.

The reports of Soviet grain purchases are circulating on the third anniversary of an historic U.S. credit deal that helped pave the way for Moscow to buy huge amounts of American grain in 1972.

On July 8, 1972, then President Richard M. Nixon announced a $750-million credit arrangement to enable the Soviets to buy U.S. wheat and feed grains. Although the loan, financed through the Agriculture Department, was thought then to meet Russia's needs, it turned out to be only the tip of an export iceberg.

Within a month, it was disclosed that the Soviets had secretly negotiated large cash purchases of U.S. grain, mainly wheat, amounting to more than $1 billion. The sales, including about one-fourth of the 1972 U.S. wheat crop, totaled about 19 million metric tons in all.

Mayors Switch Fight For Aid To Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Leaders of the nation's big-city mayors are holding a closed session to devise a new strategy in their fight with the Ford administration for more federal aid to cities.

Upset by President Ford's budget decisions and the failure of Congress to override his vetoes, these mayors are seeking a way to restore urban problems to the top of the national agenda, according to sources close to the participants.

One strategy under preliminary consideration was to bring Republican and Democratic congressional leaders into a series of cities for tours and conferences in which they could actually see the problems and talk to the people in the streets, according to one source.

Today's session was called by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco, president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors meeting here. He invited fellow Democratic mayors Moon Landrieu of New Orleans, the conference's incoming president; Kenneth A. Gibson of Newark, N.J., incoming vice president; Kevin H. White of Boston and Abraham D. Beame of New York.

Several sources said the mayors were seeking strategies to regain the attention they had in the early 1970s when a Legislative Action Committee of mayors, led by John V. Lindsay of New York, toured the nation's major cities.

The tours attracted more attention to the mayors and their problems than any previous conference activity. And the mayors believe the trips, which they dubbed the "big dog and pony show," helped marshal support to pass a federal revenue-sharing program. That $20.2-billion, five-year program, which ends next year, gave states and cities the first federal aid that could be spent any way local officials wanted.

A battle is developing between mayors and the Ford administration over whether there should be changes in this program. Both sides want the program renewed this year by Congress, and Ford has asked for $39.8 billion over five years.

A resolutions committee of the conference has approved a call for more money over-all, and revision of the distribution formula to give the neediest cities a greater share.

Ford administration officials here have said they fear that, if the full conference approves this on Wednesday, a debate might ensue pitting governors, county officials and mayors against each other and jeopardizing chances for renewal by Congress.

The mayors also are pressing for passage of a $2-billion emergency antirecession aid bill to states and cities with high unemployment. Ford administration officials say this also could open debate on the revenue-sharing formula, and they are urging that discussion of the antirecession measure be deferred until revenue sharing is renewed.

On Monday, the White House sent telegrams inviting mayors around the country to a discussion of revenue sharing Thursday. Jim Falk, associate director of the White House Domestic Council, has said Ford will join the meeting.

A measure of the administration's concern over the possibility that the mayors might break up the coalition behind revenue-sharing renewal was indicated by telephone calls placed Monday to this meeting on behalf of Treasury Secretary

William E. Simon, seeking to determine the depth of sentiment here.

Some sources said the invitations went to about 150 mayors of both parties. These sources also said that some Democratic mayors had raised the possibility of boycotting the meeting because they feared being dragged into a bargaining session without adequate preparation.

The opposing view was exemplified by Democratic Mayor Neil Goldschmidt of Portland, Ore., who said he had not been invited, but "I certainly wouldn't pass up any chance to present my views to the President."

Romania Eases Hold On Jews

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials are expected to report that emigration of Jews from Romania recently has picked up as they urge a Senate panel to recommend approval of a new Romanian trade accord.

Sources said they anticipated the U.S. officials would testify that a sharp increase in departure of Jews from Romania during June indicates the Bucharest government intends to meet congressional objectives linking freer emigration with trade concessions.

Cherry Packers Announce Prices Well Below '74

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Four of Michigan's tart cherry processors have announced prices for this year's crop which fall nearly 50 per cent short of the prices paid growers last year.

A price of 10.5 cents for each pound of cherries which grades 92 score, the industry's average, is "unacceptable to growers in the face of higher production costs," said Harry Foster.

Foster is secretary of the Michigan Red Tart Cherry Growers, a voluntary association representing growers of some 60 per cent of the state's tart cherry crop.

Last year the state's processors paid 18.5 cents per pound of 92 score cherries, with a top price of 19.25 cents a pound for perfect 100 score produce. For this year's crop, processors have offered to pay 10.5 or 10.4 cents per pound of 92 score cherries, with top price of 12 cents per pound of 100 score tart cherries.

Yesterday Foster also expressed concern over the potential crop damage that might be caused by a fungus called Brown Rot. "Southwestern Michigan is sitting on a powder keg," he said. Already, growers are leaving whole orchard blocks unharvested because of the trouble that Brown Rot infected cherries causes processors.

Making price announcements were Silver Mill Frozen Foods, Eau Claire; Jeno's, Inc., (formerly Sodas Fruit Exchange) and Chase Farms, Walkerville, east of Hart. Today, Michigan Fruit Packers, Benton Harbor, offered a similar price schedule, Foster says.

Foster says that no contracts have been signed with the processors by the grower's association, which feels that 92 score cherries, under current marketing conditions, should fetch between 12 and 14 cents.

Sam Ebbert, general manager of Jeno's, said yesterday that those processors still trying to sell last year's crop are losing money with each pound of frozen cherries sold.

Not all processors still have carryover, he said, but those who do are selling "at a level which is 10 cents a pound below one year ago." In 1974 Michigan packers paid 18.5 cents a pound for tart cherries, with a top price of 19.25 cents a pound for perfect 100 score produce. For this year's crop, processors have offered to pay 10.5 or 10.4 cents per pound of 92 score cherries, with top price of 12 cents per pound of 100 score tart cherries.

Ebbert said that since harvest last year, buyer demand has gone soft. Makers of pies, turnovers and preserves have used a considerably smaller amount of tart cherries than last year.

He added that this year's price offering is smaller than last year because last year's crop was smaller. The United States Department of Agriculture recently estimated that this year's Michigan tart crop would be 230 million pounds, up 12 per cent from 1974.

Nationwide, USDA estimated, the cherry crop will weigh in at 314 million pounds, compared with 1974's crop of 286 million pounds.

However, the Cherry Administrative Board has decided to set aside 15 per cent of the Michigan crop, along with crops in other Great Lakes states, which should mean that only about 195 million pounds of the Michigan crop will reach processors.

Last year's Michigan crop was about 204 million pounds. The township board is expected to act on proposed facility plans next week, according to city officials.

The proposed system would be installed on 102 acres of state owned land southeast of the city near 122nd avenue and 32nd street.

In a related item, the commission learned during its regular meeting last night that the city now has options on 100 acres for $14,400 which will be exchanged for the state owned property valued at approximately $14,250 for the irrigation system.

In other areas during the meeting, the commission granted permission to the Fennville Chamber of Commerce to hold a carnival on Aug. 7-9 on South Maple street.

The commissioners informed two city residents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barrington, that a city ordinance permits beer and wine drinking in the city park. The couple had complained to the commissioners about drinking.

Ebbert noted that the three processors who have offered prices intend to pay cash on delivery, in contrast to other packers who are planning to offer growers a downpayment, then more money depending upon what they can sell the final product for.

District Horticultural Agent Jordan Tatter said last week that he has never seen such a severe Brown Rot problem in southwestern Michigan orchards. Responsible is "a set of environmental conditions that is overpowering our spray program," he said.

FENNVILLE — City officials here are still awaiting approval from the Clyde township board on a city proposal to locate a $1 million spray irrigation sewer system in the township. It would serve the city and township as well as the townships of Ganges and Manlius.

The township board is expected to act on proposed facility plans next week, according to city officials.

The proposed system would be installed on 102 acres of state owned land southeast of the city near 122nd avenue and 32nd street.

Hearings Asked In Burglary

PAW PAW — Two men demanded preliminary examinations on charges of breaking and entering stemming from a break-in at a Hartford restaurant July 4 when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court.

Preliminary examinations for Paul Andrew Strumons, Jr., 18, Drury, Mo., and James R. Gorsline, 20, Garland apartments, Hartford, were scheduled for July 15.

The pair were arrested by Hartford police in connection with a break-in at the Koffee Kip restaurant in which three cartons of cigarettes were reported stolen.

In other cases, Norman D. Murphy, Jr., 0, and Thomas L. Johnson, 20, both of route 2, Lawhew, demanded preliminary examinations on charges of maintaining a dwelling for the use of controlled substances. They were arrested Sunday at a rural Lawrence home after Van Buren sheriff's deputies had entered the house to investigate another unrelated case.

Deputies said quantities of substances believed to be marijuana and heroin were found in the house.

Seven other persons arrested at the house pleaded innocent to charges of possession of marijuana and were released on their own recognizance. Preliminary conferences were scheduled for July 21.

Berrien Judges Put Six Men In Prison

Six men were sentenced to prison yesterday in Berrien circuit court, including a Benton Harbor man who got concurrent prison terms for robbing an elderly woman and assaulting her son.

Receiving concurrent sentences of 10 to 30 years imprisonment from Judge Julian E. Hughes was James F. Turner, 18, of 891 Wauconda avenue, Benton Harbor. He was sentenced for armed robbery and assault with intent to rob while armed.

Turner was one of two men accused of breaking into the home of Lawrence Leban, on Townline road, Sodus township, on July 22, 1974, assaulting him and robbing his mother, Molly Leban, 81. A switchblade knife and pistol were used in both assaults, and jewelry and cash were stolen from Mrs. Leban.

Leban was instrumental in thwarting the robbery when one of the assailants ordered him to withdraw his savings from a bank, but Leban slipped a note to a bank teller, who notified police.

In other sentences by Hughes: John W. Stanford, 43, of Palatine, Ill., and Wilburn F.

Prather, 43, of Lansing, both were sentenced to 2 1/2 to 5 years in prison for breaking and entering the residence of Henry Rodewald, on Arent road, Bainbridge township, April 24.

Leroy Sangster, 48, of 3872 River road, Sodus township, received a 2 1/2 to 4 year prison term for assault with a deadly weapon, a knife, against Robert Watson Feb. 15 in Sodus township.

Sidney W. Merrill, 19, of Millburg, was placed on two years probation and assessed fine and costs of $350 for attempted destruction of property over $100. Merrill and another youth were charged with attempting to blow-up a telephone booth in Millburg on March 31 with a pipe-bomb. Merrill was also ordered to pay one-half of the damages to the phone booth.

Lavern Pittman, 42, of 590 Clay street, Benton Harbor, was placed on two years probation, and ordered to remain at Bullock House in Grand Rapids for rehabilitation for attempted larceny in a building at Osceola drug store, 758 East Napier avenue, Benton township.

In sentences by Judge William S. White:

Grayling A. Love, 19, of 2205 Lawrence drive, Benton township, was sentenced to 2 to 4 years in prison for attempted arson at the Child Family Services of Michigan office, at 2002 South State street, St. Joseph, on April 7.

Ramon Cantu, 33, of Mercedes, Texas, got 18 months to 4 years in prison for delivery of marijuana. Cantu was one of two men charged with delivery of some 100 pounds of marijuana to undercover state police officers in Oronoko township.

A co-defendant, Geronimo Valle, 22, also of Mercedes, was placed on two years probation in connection with the same case. Valle noted Valle had a previously clean criminal record, and was not the instigator of the sale.

Melvin A. Carlisle, 31, of 1068 Hurd avenue, Benton Harbor, was placed on two years probation, and assessed $300 fine and costs, for assault with a deadly weapon, a pistol, against Anthony Williams March 22 in Benton Harbor.

John Franklin Shepard, 34, of LaPorte, Ind., was placed on two years probation, and ordered to pay fine and costs of $300, for attempted statutory rape Feb. 2 in New Buffalo township.

In arraignments before Judge Hughes:

Raymond Gonzales, 41, of Chicago, stood mute, and had an innocent plea entered by the court, to an open charge of murder. He is accused of murdering Ronald Carpenter June 8 during a wedding party at 115 South Marshall street, New Buffalo.

Floyd Caldwell, 25, of 191 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, stood mute, and had innocent pleas entered, to two counts of armed robbery. He is charged with robbing Judge and Mrs. Harry Laity May 30 at the Laitys' residence, 825 Colfax avenue. Caldwell is accused of using a knife to rob the couple of jewelry, rings, a watch, and cash.

Donald Harris, 21, and Denise Harris, 19, both of Coloma, both pleaded guilty to attempted larceny over $100, reduced from larceny over $100. The couple is accused of attempting to steal cash owned by the Servationation Vending Co. Oct. 8, 1974 from a loading dock at Whirlpool's St. Joseph plant.

Leslie L. Henry, 29, of 629 Platt street, Niles, pleaded innocent to a charge of possession of heroin May 20 in Niles.

Ronnie A. Davis, 24, and Wendie L. Davis, 21, both of Bertrand township, both pleaded innocent to charges of possession of amphetamines May 26 in Bertrand township.

Maurice G. Needham, 23, of 737 Nickerson avenue, Benton township, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He is accused of assaulting Van Clark with a car June 3 in the parking lot of Fairplain Plaza in Benton township.

Myrna A. Hiltiard, 33, of Union Pier, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault on a police officer. She is accused of assaulting Trooper Dewayne Hellenga June 15 while Hellenga attempted to make an arrest on Lakeshore road in Chikaming township.

Decatur Orders Study Of Lake Woods Park

DECATUR—Two Decatur village council members were appointed to study use of the Lake of the Woods park during last night's village council meeting.

Lyle Overton and Blaine Rex were asked to do the study, with the possibilities of fencing it and charging non-village park users admission to be considered.

The appointments, by village President Keith Leighton, came after Rex said that he had seen many more non-village people than village people using the park recently and questioned the use of $6,000 of village funds to operate a park for non-village people.

In other areas, the council deferred action on granting a cable television franchise to Community Cable television.

the company presently operating in Paw Paw and Lawton.

The council wanted to check the company's work in those two cities before granting a franchise.

The council also approved a request from the Disabled American Veterans to offer for-gone-not emblems in the business area of Decatur Aug. 8 and 9.
